DEDICATION

TO ONE WHOSE LOSS WE BEAR

A sponsor whose skilful supervision guided us almost to the completion of our task in publishing this year's Joplimo.

An intelligent, conscientious, and inspiring teacher.

A friend and adviser to hundreds of students.

A sponsor of the annual during most of the seven years she was with us.

In a sense particularly fitting, we dedicate this book to the memory of Miss Edna Barlow.

T. FRANK COULTER
Director of Music

Three times, in as many years, Joplin has sent her orchestra into national competition with the finest school orchestras in the United States. In each case distinctive honors have been won.

In 1933, the National Contest was held at Elmhurst, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, in connection with the Century of Progress Exposition. On this occasion the Joplin Orchestra won a First Rating, the highest possible honor.

This feat was duplicated the following year, when the orchestra was sent to Ottawa, Kansas. Here was a larger contest, with many excellent school orchestras. Again a First Honor Rating came to Joplin.

In 1935, the National was held at Madison, Wisconsin. This time facing a new demand of excellence and with over twice the number of entries ever gathered at a National before, our reward was a Second Honor Rating. To those who watched the score board only, the Second Rating was a disappointment. Those who heard the competition, however, agreed that the high standards of Joplin High School were maintained.

Credit for these outstanding achievements should go to our accomplished director, Mr. T. Frank Coulter.

HARMONY

Wise administrators, intelligent and understanding teachers, willing and eager students . . . . these are the elements of which our cooperative spirit is compounded.

The Orchestra

Joplin High School boasts a number of excellent musical units, but most outstanding of them all is its orchestra. Time and again the orchestra has brought highest state ratings to Joplin and for the last three years has won national honors. Hail to a group of champions!

JOPLIN HIGH SCHOOL

THE MAIN ENTRANCE

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Public spirited citizens who give of their time and energy to see that Joplin's schools are wisely and efficiently conducted in the best interests of the whole community—to them we owe a debt of gratitude.

School's Out

School Begins

DIRECTOR of THE SYMPHONY

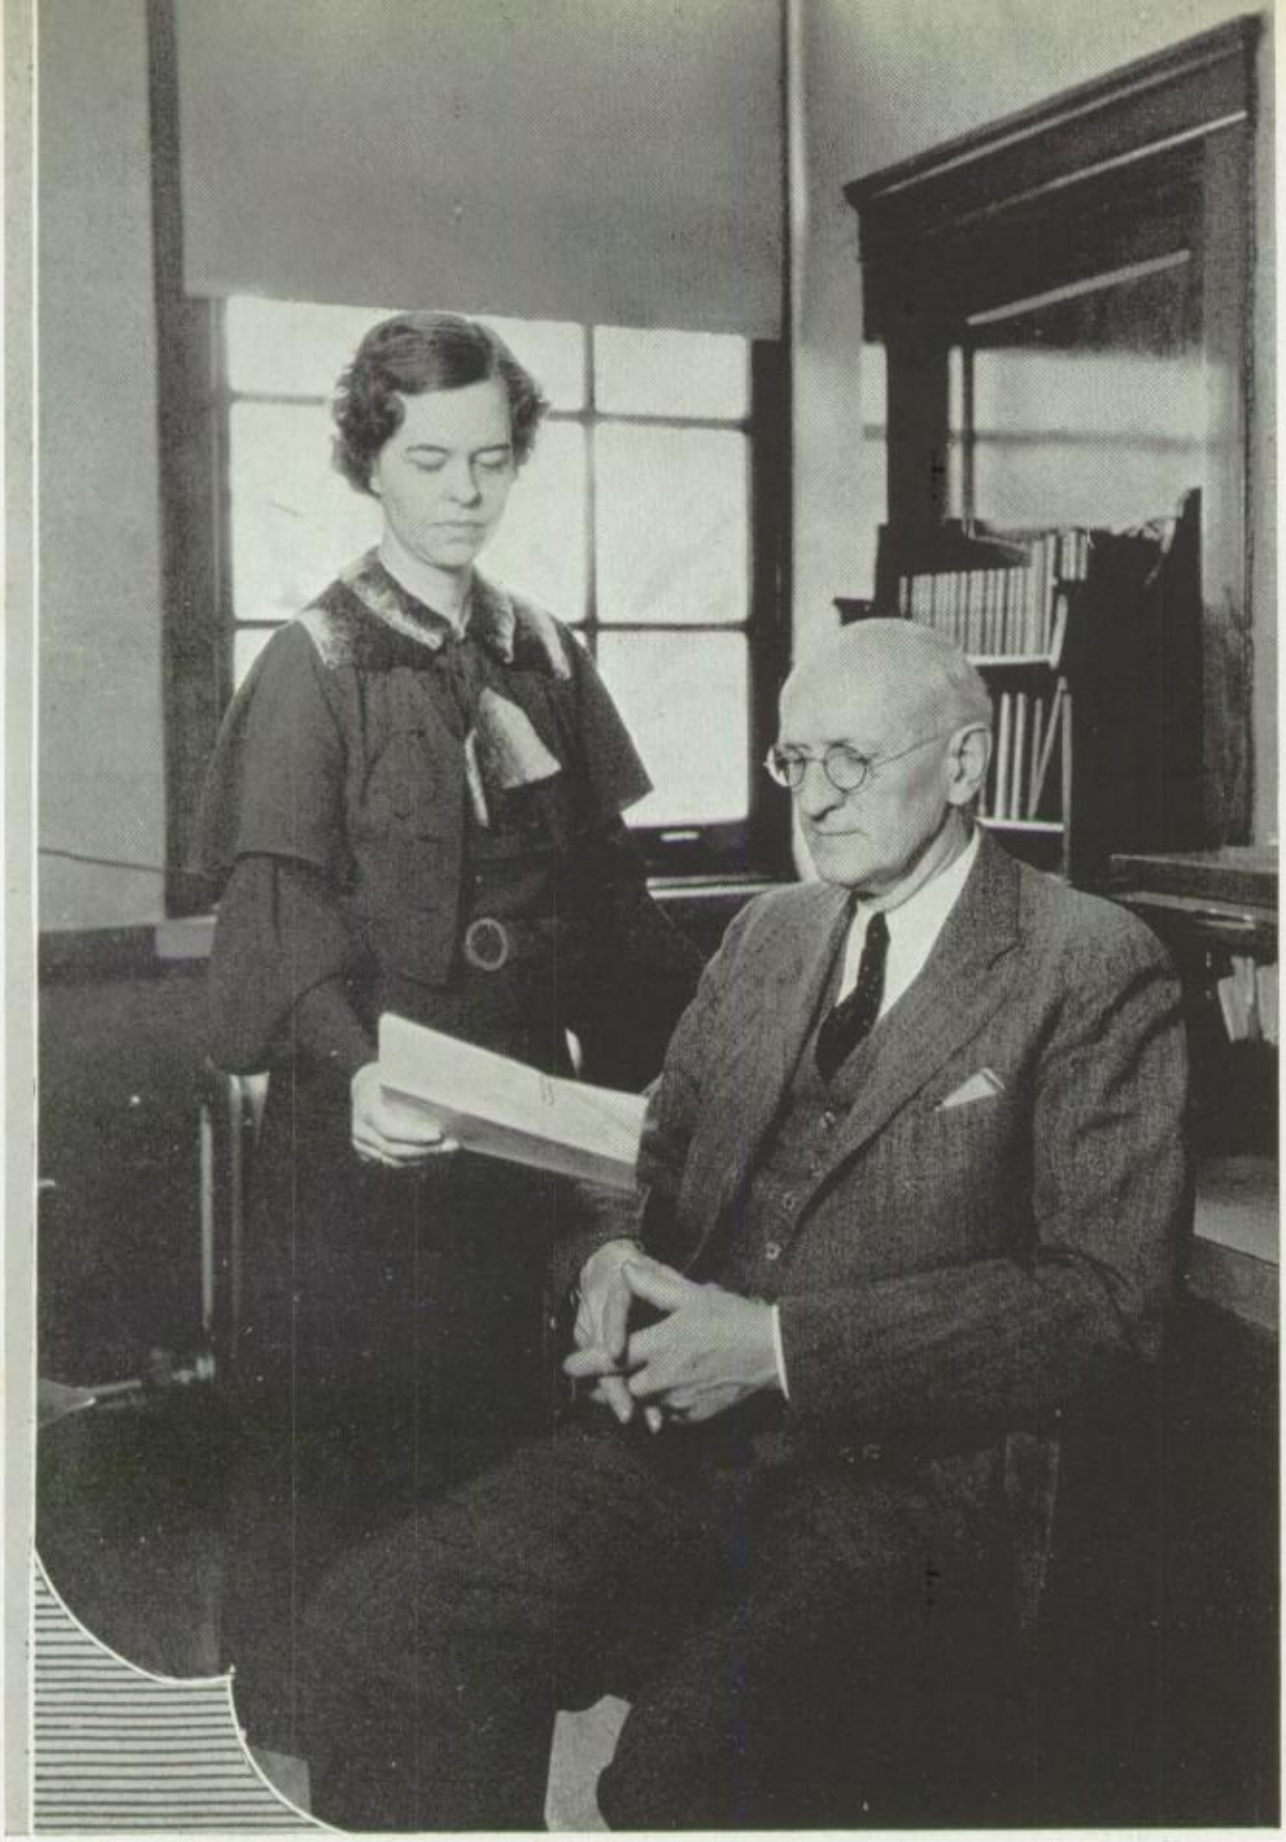
Mr. E. A. Elliott, our genial superintendent, came to us from Nevada, Missouri in the fall of 1930 to assume his present duties at the beginning of a trying period for Missouri's schools. During those lean years he saw to it that Joplin's schools were operated efficiently and that educational standards were kept high.

There are two things that seem especially typical of our superintendent—one, his ready wit and keen sense of humor, and the other, his progressive spirit. He is not unmindful of the good in old practices—those that are worthwhile he retains. Neither is he a worshipper of all that is new. But he is constantly on the alert for new ideas which will mean progress in education or in community life. Once convinced that an idea is worthwhile, he loses no time in putting it into practice if it is within his power to do so.

Joplin's students feel that in Mr. Elliott they have a friend who not only understands their problems but who knows how best to solve them.



THE MAESTRO

For more than a score of years our principal, Mr. H. E. Blaine, has directed the affairs of Joplin High School.

A big friendly man he is with a twinkle in his eye—the students like him as a friend genuinely interested in each of them, and respect him as a wise and competent educator.

Nor does he live just in a world of books. He likes football, basketball, and track. And, when the time comes to roll his desk top down for the summer, he finds pleasure, as does many another philosopher, with rod and reel along likely looking streams.

During the years that Mr. Blaine has been at Joplin High School, it has grown in enrollment from about seven hundred in four grades to more than twelve hundred in three. New courses and equipment have been added in keeping with the most progressive practice. The school's success in extra curricular activities, as well as its high scholastic standing, has been due, in no small measure, to this principal of whom we are justly proud.

Social Science

Events in today's rapidly moving political and social drama are indicative of the great need for citizens who have an adequate factual background and a proper perspective to enable them to think intelligently about the complex problems which confront society.

The social science department realizes that the extent to which different individuals will have an opportunity to participate effectively in attempting to solve today's social problems will vary greatly, as do their capacities, but it seems obvious that we must strive unceasingly toward the attainment of a higher level of social efficiency. To help achieve such an ideal is the chief objective of modern social studies.

English and Speech

More and more do we feel that a knowledge of our language is necessary to social and business success; therefore, intensive drill is given the summer, he finds pleasure, as does many another philosopher, with ability are encouraged to enter contests. A number won honors this year.

We also recognize that success in life calls for thought, inspiration, and idealism. The great masterpieces of literature furnish this material.

Furthermore, we do not forget that our modern work day is becoming shorter and that our citizens of small means have more leisure, so we read for fun and for information.

Commerce

The Commercial Department offers a full three-year course designed to equip students to hold positions as skilled workers in the business world. All Commercial Students take the same course the first two years, but in the third year specialize in either accounting or stenography. Many serious minded students have received the training in this department which has secured for them positions in the commercial world, leading to successful careers. The department also accommodates a limited number of students who wish to take some one subject, such as typing, but who are not primarily commercial students.

Science

"An educated person is one who has a well rounded knowledge of things as they are, some understanding of things as they were, and vision of things as they might be."

"Just how any modern man, can be well educated who has not the slightest acquaintance with the facts and concepts of science has never been explained. A speaking acquaintance with physics, chemistry and some phase of biology should be the minimum of science requirements within the curriculum."

Joplin High School provides in its science courses not only such a broad general background but a more specialized training for students expecting to major in science fields.

Physical Education

Under the direction of Coach Collins, Joplin High School had a most successful year in athletics. The football team was one of the best in the school's history; the basketball team won second place at the State Tournament; and the girls had a very interesting and enjoyable year in sports. A large number of girls took part in the inter-society and inter-class sports. Through these games and athletic contests, the pupils developed those fundamental traits which have so much to do with success in life. The department hopes to create in the individual an intelligent and healthful interest in physical activity that will carry over into adult life.

Home Economics

The home economics department, which is composed of the divisions of domestic art and domestic science, places stress upon training for successful home-making. Not only are the desirable habits and skills of the home-maker developed, but also an acquaintance with the professional possibilities of home economics and the related arts.

The budgeting of one's time and money, the care and training of children, the development of personality—all these form a part of the course in this department whose aim is the development of well balanced individuals who are prepared for success in the world of business or in woman's own sphere, the home.

Industrial Arts

The industrial arts department has as its major objective the training of boys and girls in manual skills. While both the wood work and mechanical drawing are of much value in preparation for a vocation in the skilled crafts, the department places great emphasis upon the avocational value of the work; and perhaps a major portion of the students enrolled take this course as preparation for satisfying and useful avocational occupations.

The young wood worker is taught the proper use and care of tools and machinery, and develops gradually from the toothbrush-holder stage to the making of fine cabinet pieces. At least an elementary knowledge of mechanical drawing is invaluable to the amateur builder, cabinet maker, or designer.

Few things give one a more genuine feeling of satisfaction than does the ability to do things with one's hands. And by the way, the husbands of this generation won't be the only handy "men" around the place. Girls are showing great enthusiasm in the department, and their work compares favorably with that of their brothers.

Trade Instruction

The department of trade instruction prepares boys to enter the trades of carpentry and auto mechanics. Students electing these courses spend a half of their school day at the trade school during the three years of their high school career. They work, under supervision, on real production jobs—repairing cars, building garages, and doing the things that they will do in the practice of their chosen vocation. The instructors in this department are men who have practiced the trades which they teach. In other words, the department offers a practical vocational training by men who are themselves practical tradesmen as well as teachers.

Foreign Language

While foreign languages are much alike in general, each has special objectives and values. For instance, Latin is an invaluable guide to the understanding of word derivations—their meanings and pronunciations; and it is very much worth while for those who plan to enter certain professions having technical vocabularies made up largely of Latin terms. A large part of the most valuable literature pertaining to certain professions is in French. And Spanish affords many opportunities in the modern commercial world. Which language or languages to take depends upon the intentions of the student. From an esthetic standpoint, the mastery of any language is a matter of satisfaction in itself, leading to new avenues of enjoyment.

Mathematics

"Why should I study mathematics?" is a question with which the "math" teacher is quite familiar. The answer obviously lies in a little reflection about the world in which we live. Automobiles, sky scrapers, airplanes, giant bridges and dams, as well as every humble residence—these things are made possible only because man has learned to understand and to use mathematics, the mother science.

The course in mathematics provides the foundation for those who will pursue advanced scientific or technical studies, and it makes possible to the others, an understanding of the how and why of much of the modern world. For all, it is perhaps the best training in truly scientific methods of thought— the "Is-it-true, how-do-you-know, can-you-prove-it?" attitude, which is so important for progress in any field.

Study Halls and Library

Mrs. Edna Clark and Mrs. Edna Chestnut as supervisors of the boys' and girls' study halls, respectively, contribute much to the discipline of the school and help to create an atmosphere in which good study work may be done in preparation of assignments.

Miss Laura Decker has charge of our library, which, situated between the two study halls, is accessible to all students. Many new books of reference and standard fiction have been added to the library this year, increasing its usefulness and attractiveness.

Military and Music

The military department provides instruction according to the prescribed course of the War Department for the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Young men completing the work of the department are not only better trained to serve their country if necessary, but they have had a most valuable training in discipline, good citizenship, and the building of sturdy bodies. Joplin's R. O. T. C. unit has for many years been given an honor rating by the United States War Department.

The music department hopes to accomplish two objectives—to increase the student's capacity to appreciate fine music, and to help him find and develop his own musical talents. Under the direction of Mr. Coulter, the department has been notably successful in attaining these goals.

MUSIC SPONSORS

The Music Department of Joplin High School has been ably assisted during the past two years by an organization of parents known as the "Joplin High School Music Sponsors."

The membership is made up primarily of parents of music students, but is open to any who wish to lend their support to the various projects of the organizations. Material assistance has been given by furnishing transportation when needed, selling tickets to concerts and entertainments, lending moral support and encouragement to students, and promoting various projects for the benefit of the department.

The "Sponsors" took a most active part in the planning of the annual Keenerino this year. They pledged a full house for the Amateur Show and Minstrel, and fulfilled the pledge to the letter, for every seat in the house was occupied.

The officers for the current year are:

Mr. Sherman Smith, President.
Mr. D. G. Harrison, Vice-President.
Mrs. C. R. Wilcox, Secretary.
Mrs. Fern Bloomer, Treasurer.

THE SENIOR CLASS

The final curtain is swiftly closing on the senior class of 1936. After three memorable years of alternate study and play, we are ending our happy days at Joplin High. Our teachers we'll forgive (and not forget!) for giving us many a surprise test when least welcome, for not allowing us to sleep when a lesson was very uninteresting, for not letting us talk in study hall when there was something most important to say, and above all, for their occasional inability to recognize the real merit of our recitations and test papers.

As usual, the seniors head the list in oratory, debate, dramatics and music, as well as in scholarship. The students holding the twenty highest scholastic ranks are: Eleanor Kincaid, Laurence Martin, Robert Hansen, Mae DuBois, Betty Cragin, Virginia Frizzell, Patricia Taaffe, Ann Moskovitz, John Witcosky, Marian Main, Elizabeth Ann Poston, Erma Jean Scott, Benton Whitaker, Jesse Arterburn, Irene Beliner, Mary Ellen Fry, Betty Compbell, Jean Treat, Mildred Bullock, Wade Martin, and Virginia Downs. (The last two tied for twentieth place.)

THE JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class of 1936 has maintained the high tradition of previous junior classes. Take for instance, the class play, "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm." It was a great success with Betty Mae Winters as "Rebecca," and what a "Rebecca" she made!

If you don't think the juniors are going places in debates, just ask Miss Moran. And music—well, watch Charlotte Coulter, Joe Brookshire, and Rex Boyd do their stuff. But we're modest, so why go on?

IN MEMORIAM

The loss of Betty Hansford, one of our most talented and best loved classmates, leaves a void which cannot be filled. We shall keep with us always, however, the memory of her cheerful and friendly personality.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

Jean Miles isn't at all lengthy.

Virginia Fountain isn't the bubbling type.

Dean Box tied up with a ribbon wouldn't make such a hot gift for your best girl.

Loyal Bell isn't clangy, but he can recite rings around a lot of people.

Joan Jester doesn't indulge in jesting as her name implies.

But—most surprising of all—Elby Butcher is pretty much of a cut-up.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

"Labor Omnes Vincit!" With such a motto, this year's sophomore class should really get up and go places. They have a pretty good start too, having been represented in sports as well as music and public speaking.

At their fall meeting the sophomores chose Everett Reniker as their president; Gail Hood for vice president; Jayne Haughawout as their secretary; and Dick Mills (not the orchestra leader) as their reporter.

For their colors, they chose blue and gold. The flowers selected were Rose and Fern.

Sponsors of the class are Mr. Henning, Miss Robinson, and Miss Buehlman.

THEY DIDN'T HAVE TO TELL US. WE ALREADY KNEW . . . . .

That you don't get served in the cafeteria; you wait on yourself . . .

That you get into assembly free . . .

That there are no elevators; you walk to class . . .

That there is no recess (and, incidentally, no respite) . . .

But we're just now beginning to suspect that the senior who sighed and said, "If I had only done differently when I was a sophomore . . . " knew what he was talking about!

POINTS and COUNTERPOINTS

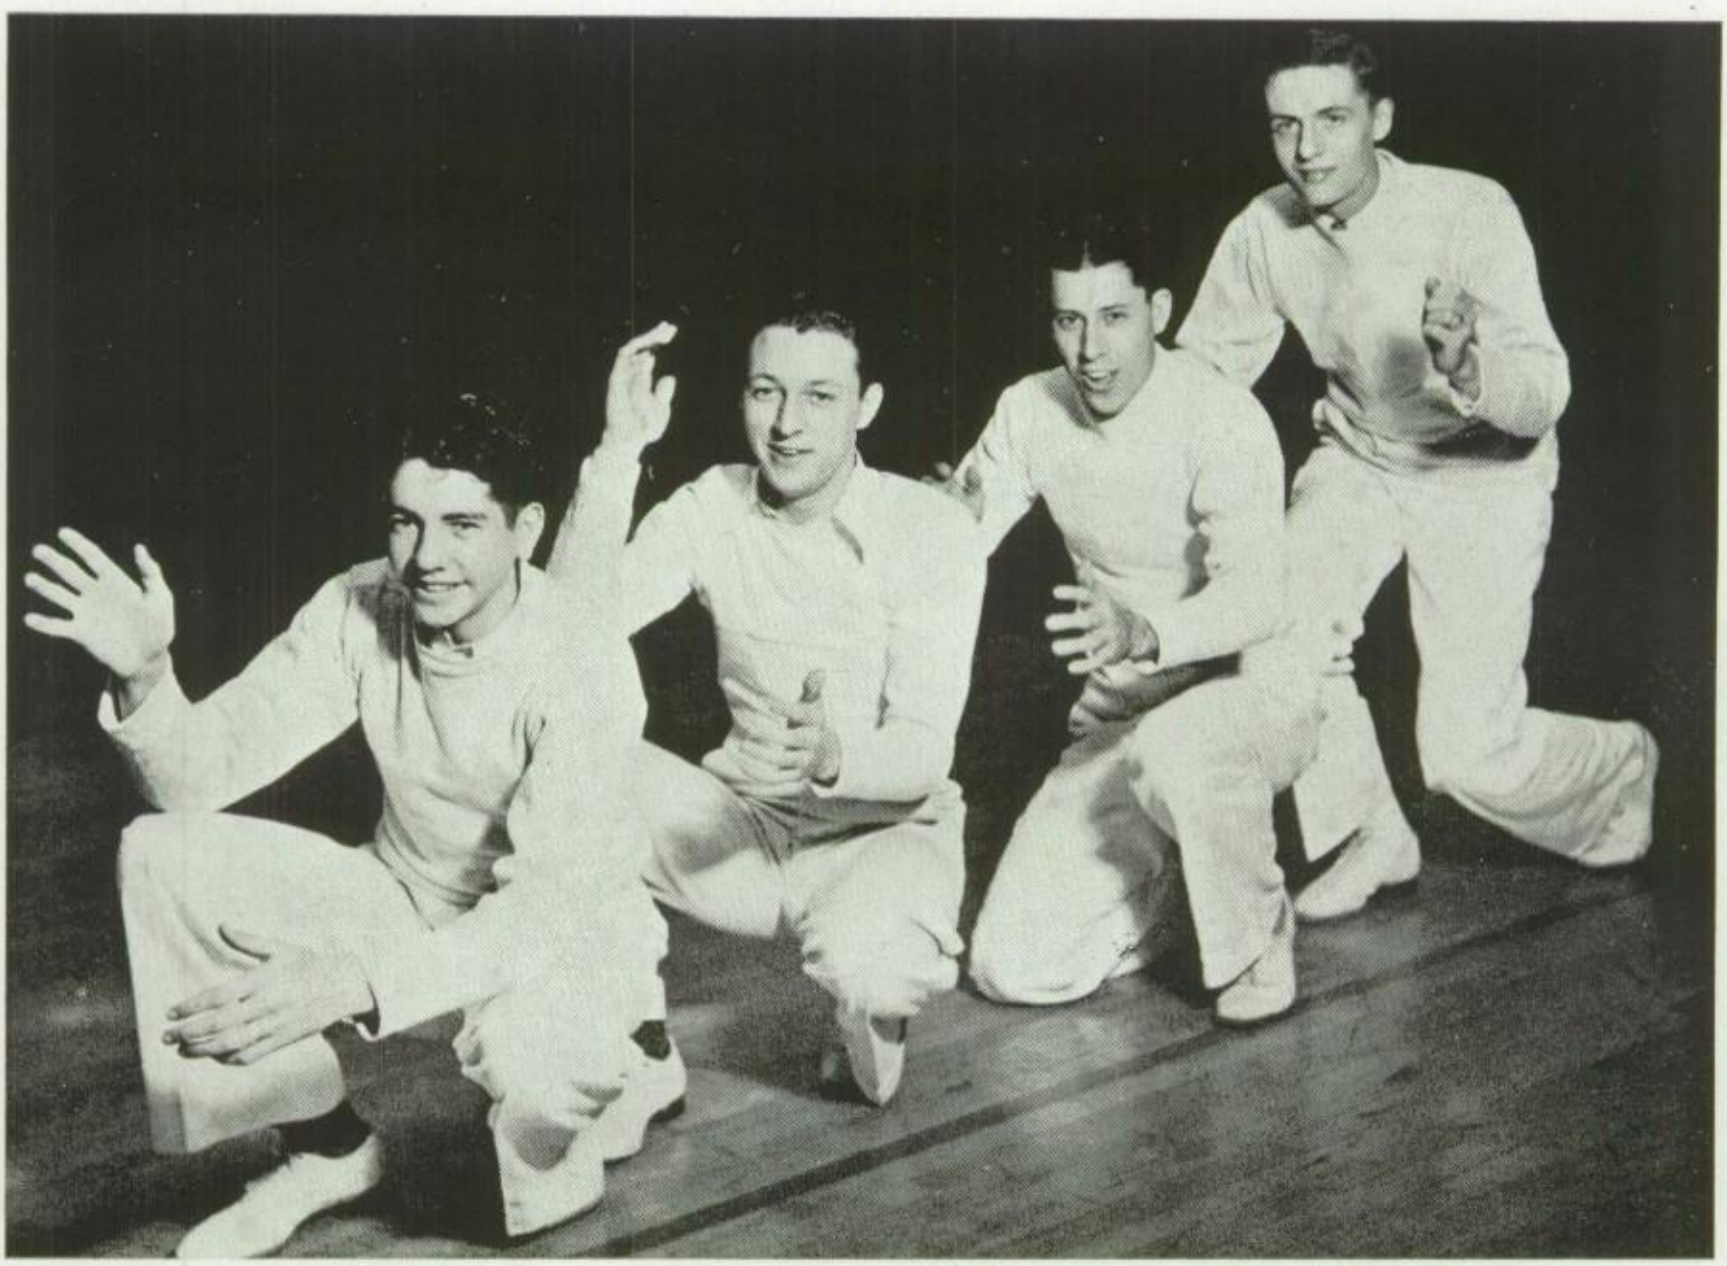
Some things one gets from books, valuable things, too; but others, equally valuable, can be acquired only on the gridiron, the basketball court, or the track. Sturdy bodies, well trained muscles, courage, cooperation, and manly self reliance . . . these are the rewards of the athlete.

THE BAND

Joplin may well be proud of its unusually fine high school band. Playing as only a band trained by a master can play, marching down the street with even ranks and military precision, this splendid unit excites admiration in every parade and in every stadium in which it appears. They've won more than their share of contest honors, too!



Evans Thompson Peterson Jenkins

OUR CHEER LEADERS

Joplin's loyal band of rooters, led by these four "leather lungs," gave the enemy the "axe" consistently throughout the football and basketball seasons. Nor did they yell in vain, for Joplin High's teams took scalp after scalp. However, our school spirit is not the fair weather kind. Joplin's rooters, like Joplin's teams, fight from start to finish whether the tide of battle goes with or against them. "The game's the thing"—a hard fight but a fair fight, and honor to him who wins.

FOOTBALL IN REVIEW

Joplin started off a successful season by drubbing the Aurora "Houn' Dawgs" 19-0. The boys showed fine team work, and Lee Marcum made several fine runs.

The Eagles scored a second victory over Monett. The Cubs could not hold the quick, charging, plunging Eagle backfield, and were over-whelmed by a score of 31-0.

The Columbus Titans were the third victim of the Eagles. Although the Titans put up a hard fight, they were defeated 31-6. Columbus was the first team to cross the Joplin goal in three games.

One of the most thrilling football games of the season, was the Lamar-Joplin game. Lamar put over a touchdown in the second quarter and held Joplin scoreless until the last five minutes of the game, when J. R. Graue, substitute fullback, dashed for two touchdowns and plunged two extra points. It was a close game, with Joplin emerging victor by a score of 14-6.

The Miami War Dogs proved to be a hard team to beat. The game was played in a drizzling rain and mud almost ankle deep. The teams were well matched. The turning point of the game came when Stair ran 25 yards to the War Dogs' 10-yard line. Then, after two plunges, Lair made the only score of the game, making five straight wins for the Eagles.

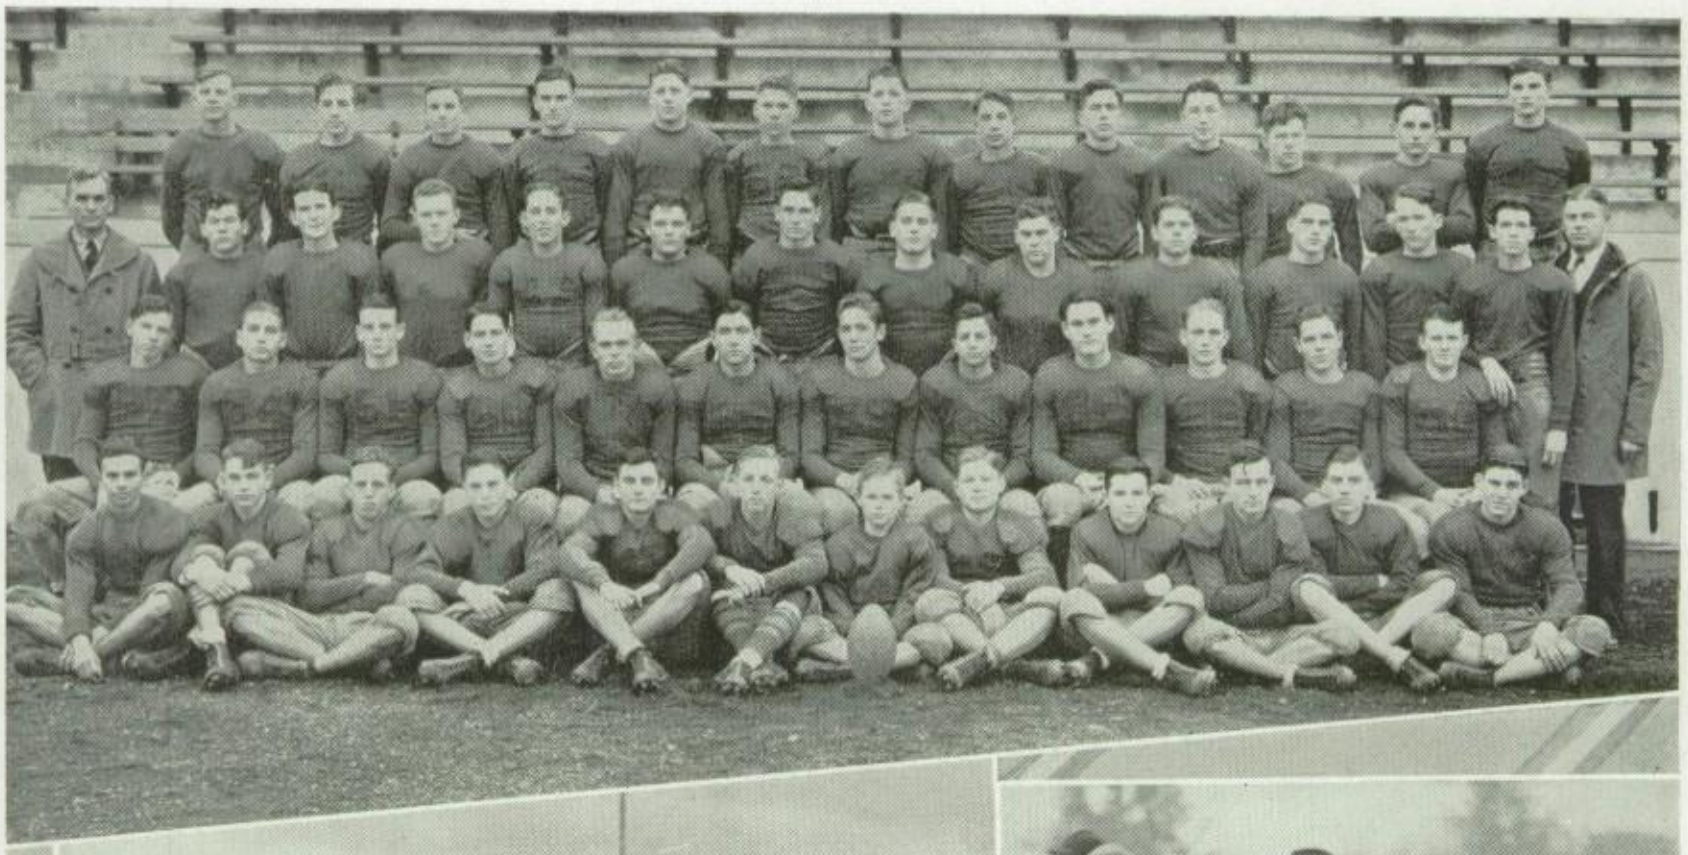
The light, fast Nevada team were the first to stay the Eagles' winning streak, with a score of 6-6. With about three minutes to go, Lair received the kickoff and galloped 80 yards for a touchdown.

The rivalry between Carthage and Joplin flared anew this year as Joplin won 25-0. For the fifth consecutive year, Carthage has not scored on a Joplin team.

The Neosho Wildcats were tamed by Joplin to the tune of 15-0. This was the first night game under the floodlights at the stadium, and was a hard-fought battle all the way through.

The Pittsburg Purple Dragons proved to be Joplin's equal, but not their superior. The game was the second tie game of the year, 14-14.

The Turkey Day game was Joplin's only loss. The Fayetteville Bulldogs drubbed the Eagles by a score of 13-0. Joplin put up a strong battle, but the Bulldogs were having their day.



FOOTBALL

3. The reserves shiver.
4. Stair plunges through.

MORE FOOTBALL

1. Lair starts around Carthage right end.
2. We pack 'em in.
3. Marcum starts a fast one around end.
4. Graue scoops up a bad one.
5. The boys sweat.

BASKETBALL

Joplin is used to having good basketball teams, but this year's squad was so superior as to be outstanding by comparison with all teams in the Tri-State District. Furthermore, it proved itself one of the foremost teams in all the state—in fact, second to one only, as the results of the state tournament at Columbia indicated.

Not only are the boys excellent ball players, but, according to Coach Collins, they are outstanding for their clean, sportsman-like conduct, both on and off the basketball court.

In Don Sturdy, center and captain, and in Arch Watson, we had two players singled out for individual state honors. That Don has not only skill but grit was shown by the hard fight he made in the state tournament with an injured eye swollen nearly shut.

Individually and as a group, Joplin High School is proud of these boys.

BASKETBALL IN REVIEW

The Fighting Eagles displayed the finest brand of basketball shown by a Joplin team in many years.

Joplin opened the season by defeating Nevada, one of the Big Eight's strongest teams, by a score of 31-15.

Pittsburg, after defeating Joplin in every event in five years, came out on the short end of a 25-20 contest. The game was close and fast.

Joplin's first game away from home was a hard-earned one. With the score tied, 4-4 at the half, 8-8 at the third-quarter, the Eagles unleashed an attack of long shots and defeated the Springfield Bulldogs by a score of 16-10.

Carthage was the next victim of the Eagles. Playing at the Memorial Hall for the first time this year, Joplin went on a scoring spree to defeat Carthage by a score of 45-20.

Joplin went to Carterville and defeated them on their own court by a score of 25-10. The game was a thriller throughout. After the third quarter, Sturdy, Joplin captain, broke into the scoring, and Joplin forged ahead with a decisive lead to win.

Joplin suffered the first defeat at Columbus. The fast-breaking Titans, lead by Captain Andy Tinney, outplayed the Eagles throughout the entire game. It was an "off-night" for the Eagles. The score, 17-22.

Joplin defeated Lamar at the Memorial Hall by an overwhelming score of 55-16, the largest score of the season. Joplin led throughout the entire game.

For the second time this season Joplin defeated Pittsburg. Playing the Purple Dragons on their own court, Joplin won by a score of 29-12.

Avenging their defeat by the Columbus Titans, the Eagles defeated "Hez" Henley's team by a score of 28-18, in a hard-fought game. The score was virtually tied throughout much of the game.

At Carthage the Eagles won in a very close game, by a score of 20-16. First one team, then the other would be leading. Joplin "came through" in the last quarter to defeat Carthage for the second time this year.

As a worthy ending of Basketball Week, Joplin again defeated the Springfield Bulldogs, by a score of 17-16, at the Memorial Hall, with the score tied by Warden's long shot, Sturdy tossed in a free throw forty-five seconds before the whistle, to win the game.

Joplin went to Neosho next, where they defeated the Wildcats by a score of 44-15. It was rather an easy game and sustitutions were plentiful.

Carterville, Joplin's next victim, bowed for the second time to the Eagles. Joplin won, 27-16.

The last scheduled game for Joplin was played at Neosho, where Joplin again won by a large score, 46-15.

In a post-season game with the Kansas champions, the Chanute "Blue-Comets," Charley Warden made a free throw to win, 13-12, in the fastest game of the season.

Joplin won first honors at the Seneca Tournament. Three players were selected for the All-Star "A" team and one for the "B" team.

In the Neosho Regional Tournament, Joplin won the privilege of going to the State Tournament at Columbia by taking first place. Again three players were selected for the "A" team and one for the "B" team.

At the State Tournament at Columbia, Joplin went to the finals but was defeated by Hickman High (Columbia) by a score of 24-28. Only one Missouri team defeated Joplin, and that team was the best in the state.

Don Sturdy, Joplin's captain, was chosen All-State Captain and center, and Arch Watson was chosen as All-State Forward. Such a team deserves highest respects. May next year's team carry on.

TRACK IN REVIEW

Joplin started its track season with only four letter men this spring, but in spite of the lack of experienced men, has had a very successful season.

Quite a number of sophomores and juniors are out and have shown up very favorably—giving promise of an exceptionally strong squad next year.

At our first meet, the inter-class contest, the juniors placed first, seniors second, and sophomores third. Rolleg led his team by scoring 15 out of the junior's 56 points; the seniors had 45, and the sophs 32.

Joplin placed second in the Jasper County meet; Webb City, first; and Carthage, third.

In the Cassville meet, Joplin, with 68½ points, won first honors; Cassville, with 48, was second; and Sarcoxie, with 43, third.

As this goes to press the biggest track events of the year are yet to come: The Joplin Relays, the Springfield meet, and the state meet at Columbia.

TRACK AND MINOR SPORTS

Of all competitive sports, track and field events are perhaps the oldest. We can hardly look upon a race, a shot put, or a discus throw, without having recalled to us the exploits of the Greek heroes of old.

Track and field sports are different in one important respect from most high school athletics—the emphasis is not on the team but on the performance of the individual. A school's success in this branch of athletics depends not upon team work but upon the cumulative scores of its individual performers. Hence, it is probably true that track and field events more than any other high school sports teach rugged self-reliance. Furthermore, when one loses, there is no team mate to blame; he must accept the responsibility for losing, even as he may receive the glory of winning.

Among our stellar performers this year are: Jack Cooper, captain, mile and half-mile; Harold Rolleg, dashes; Frank Mitts, high jump; Bob Evans, discus; Mike Haggard, broad jump; and Thomas Prince, javelin.

Among the popular minor sports of the school is fencing. While not officially organized as a club this year, there are a number of enthusiastic fencers in the school, both boys and girls, all of whom have received instruction from Mr. Henley.

Mr. Henley is also the unofficial sponsor of a group of young archers. And, incidentally, some of their archery equipment is made in the school's industrial art shop.

The school's tennis aspirants look to Mr. Jackle for instruction, and the school, of recent years, has had some very creditable teams.

The military men of our school do their share as sports sponsors, too. Major Block and Sergeant Collier (with Mrs. Block) sponsor both boys' and girls' rifle teams, and Sergeant Collier is the adviser and unofficial coach of the golfers.

Miss Krieckhaus directs a vigorous series of contests in volley ball and indoor ball.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

HELEN KRIECKHAUS
Girls' Athletic Coach

Gym is becoming more popular each year among the girls of Joplin High School. The jovial Miss Krieckhaus helps us better ourselves in the various sports and calisthenics.

In the hygiene classes the discussions center around the problems of better living. One of the most interesting topics in the hygiene classes is the discussion on personality.

An intramural basketball turnament has been carried on for the past three years. This tournament is open to any girls' society, section room or independent team. A general practice is held for about two weeks. At these practices the girls are given special pointers about the game. Then each team practices twice a week. Teams that entered the contest were: Philo Phronians, Sigma Gamas, Asphasians, Atalantians, Room 203, Lola Houk's team, Grace Wire's team. Lola Houk's independent team was the winner with the Philo Phronians the runner-up. A basketball tournament is also held among gym classes. The second hour class, Monday and Wednesday, under the captaincy of Bee Graham, won first place in the tournament.

Any girl taking physical education may play in the volley ball games held twice weekly after school. The emphasis is not placed on competition but on physical development.

The girls show interest in tennis, which always proves to be a popular sport in spring and summer. Anyone who wishes to learn the game may do so under the direction of Miss Krieckhaus.

A softball tournament is held each year. It is perhaps the most popular sport of all. The tournament is open to any girls' club or independent team in the high school.

V I V A C E

Reading, writing, and 'rithmetic used to be about the only matters with which the school concerned itself. Modern educational philosophy, however, considers the out-of-class activities as of great importance. Music, forensics, dramatics, publications . . . these and other activities are an important part of our school life.

GIRLS' DRUM CORPS

Membership in the girls' drum corps is an honor to which every Joplin High School girl aspires. Dressed in their snappy white uniforms, marching in perfect time and order through a maze of complicated drills to the rolling of the drums, these girls are favorites with every crowd.

Our Music Master

SOME LEAVES FROM OUR MUSICAL HISTORY

Our Father Time bids us look into his record book. What greater treat is there than to read of those happy days long since gone by. We part the leaves and find to our surprise a long account of the music department from its beginning up to the present day. The first pages give us a brief account of that "Music Master," our Mr. Coulter, who was the central figure in promoting and organizing the orchestra, band, glee clubs, and drum corps, which have now gained such fame throughout the country. He attended school at Olivet College, Olivet, Michigan, where he prepared to be a civil engineer. He had had no previous preparation for teaching music but had made a careful study of voice and orchestral instruments. After graduating he was elected in the fall of 1916 as a teacher of mathematics in the Joplin High School.

The orchestra was then a struggling group of about twenty-five members under the direction of a student conductor. Due to his natural inclination in the musical field, he was given the opportunity to conduct the orchestra. Through his enthusiastic and intelligent direction and the diligent and conscientious rehearsals of the students, an outstanding orchestra was developed.

In the spring of 1917, an invitation was received to attend a contest at Springfield. It was scheduled for the day on which the contest for glee clubs and one for orators was to be held. Of course, Joplin High School had to attempt something in every phase of the affair, so the orchestra, and the sixteen members of the Girls' Glee Club went. Unfortunately, the glee club was defeated. There was no competition for the orchestra, but a special concert was given.

Mr. Coulter then enlisted in the army and became a member of the Post Band at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas. The second semester of the year 1919, witnessed Mr. Coulter's return from the army. He immediately resumed the directorate of the music department. He soon organized a band, conducted upon a military basis, which has become an important part of the High School military organization. It entered the tri-state musical contest at Pittsburg, and for their excellent playing, the boys added one more loving cup to the trophy collection.

We now turn to the golden page on which shines the record of victories gained at Pittsburg, Springfield, Columbia, and national contests. Due to his victories in these contests, Mr. Coulter had gained nation wide publicity and prestige. Mr. Coulter is proud of the fact that he is the only conductor who has attended all the Pittsburg contests and has had a full quota of entries every year. In 1924, we were represented at the first Missouri State Contest. Joplin High was a pioneer in the three major contests in this territory.

In 1928, the band attended a national contest at Joliet, Illinois, which was the first step into national circles. In 1931 the band won honors at another national contest at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

During the World's Fair, in 1933, the orchestra went to a national contest at Elmhurst, a suburb of Chicago, Illinois, where it was acclaimed as a first ranking organization. They also received this honor at Ottawa, Kansas in 1934. The last contest was held in Madison, Wisconsin. In this contest forty of the finest high school orchestras in the country were entered, and Joplin received a second ranking.

Such, in brief, has been the record of the Joplin High School Music Department, and as I close the book, Father Time nods in pleased approval.

"The Music Goes 'Round and Around"

The music department being in need of some filthy lucre to replenish its depleted treasury, Mr. Coulter decided some sort of an entertainment was in order. So the combined musical organizations presented a triple-threat program (excuse the implied menace) which was quite a deviation from the annual operatic routine.

The first part of the program consisted of a band concert. And to show the versatility of their virtuosity, they opened with the Overture from the "Golden Dragon," following shortly with "Turkey in the Straw."

The next part was a nearly perfect replica of the Major Bowe's Amateur Hour. Wendell Garrison said "All right" at the proper intervals and with the proper intonations. Frank Jenkins announced the program which was broadcast over WMBH. The judges, with "ability to entertain" as their standard, awarded first place to Roy Farnham and his "Music Murderers"—a band reported to have been recently shaken out of the trees down around "Alby." Second place, went to a quartet composed of Dorothy Duvenick and Jeanne Humphrey, vocal; Victoria Hakan, violin, and Charlotte Coulter, harp. Betty Belle True won third with a "character" dance. Several other worthy amateurs completed the program. Johnny Thompson was the only one who received the gong. This, of course, was prearranged and was no slam on Johnny's vocal ability (just color, you know!)

And the last part of this program was a good old-fashioned, black-face, southern-accent, checked-vest Minstrel Show. Bob Burke was stooge—or interlocuter, if you must be dignified—and the gags were put over by Jack Burress, Fred Robinson, Jimmy James, and Bill Lough. At the time of this Minstrel Show, the "Round and Round" craze still had us all dizzy, and Jack's interpretation of that popular song proved very popular indeed. One of the singers who deserved no little credit was our basso-profundo, Sam Rinker. At times we wonder if he'll come back up when he sinks into the depths of oblivion —low C.

1. Big shots in the minstrel. 2. Quartet, 2nd prize at Amateur Contest. 3. Betty Belle True takes 3rd with a "hick" dance. 4. The Hill Billy Band, 1st prize winner. 5. How that Coulter girl can harp!

DRAMATICS

WYNETTE BARNETT
Coach of Dramatics

"——As 'twere, with a defeated joy,— with one auspicious and one dropping eye—" No, boys and girls, we didn't get that from some movie. That's genuine Shakespeare. What we're trying to say is that the tears of the pupils at seeing our dear Miss Barnett leave were mingled with smiles of relief and grins of joy upon discovering that our new teacher, Miss Mayfield, from Terre Haute, Indiana, is the kind of teacher that pupils describe with that expressive, if rather hackneyed phrase, "She's swell!"

Hear ye! Hear ye! One of Willy Shakespeare's stooges presents a review of last year's senior class play—"Twelfth Night."

The poor players (alas!_ "strutted and fretted their hour upon the stage." Orsino (Alan Seiler), Olivia (Marjorie Caskey), and Viola (Lois Landon), came valiantly through the bewildering situations which Fate, in a playful mood, thrust upon them.

Sir Andrew Aguecheek (Max Bradfield), and Sir Toby Belch (Joe Vincent), full oft plastered to the hilt, kicked Ye Olde Gong around with gusto.

The delightful drama was given in the best Elizabethan tradition, the players sporting all trappings which did belong to that day.

"Keep in character! Please; people, keep in character! Now Becky, act as if you really liked Old Uncle Jerry! What's the matter, have you people had a fuss?"

Three guesses! That's right, it's the junior class play cast in rehearsal. And Miss Barnett is doing her best to get Betty May Winter to remember she is really Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, and D. T. Knight, that he is now Jeremiah Cobb, the lovable old Coachman.

And Miss Barnett's best seems to have been plenty good enough, because by the night of Thursday, December 5, 1936, the entire cast were completely "in character." Betty May, showing a distinct flare for comedy, copped most of the laughs. D. T.'s rheumatic limp, and Ellamae Smith's stern manner, as she portrayed Aunt Miranda, were certainly convincing. Joe Brookshire, Jimmy James, and Jean Miles were all "right pert" as Adam Ladd, Abner Simpson, and Mrs. Perkins, respectively.

Typical lines from the current senior class play, "Big Hearted Herbert:"

Frank Jenkins, thunderously expounding: "When I was twelve years old, there wasn't enough corn meal mush to go around!"

Ann Moskovitz, flapping her fins in Zasu Pitts fashion: "It's not every day I entertain a group of prospective in-laws."

Tom Wallace, falling down the stairs: "Mother, I wanna banana."

Elsie Elliott, to "little brother" Tom Wallace: "There are a lot of things a boy of your age doesn't understand."

But why go on? Surely you remember the rest for yourself.

FORENSICS

KATHRYN MORAN
Coach of Forensics

Miss Moran, a teacher of speech and English, coach of forensics, and sponsor of Joplin Chapter, National Forensic League, annually sets somewhat higher the goal to which she purposes to attain. How do students know what interest they have in forensics until they are given opportunity actually to participate in the activity? They do not know. Is it fair and proper that in a school of about thirteen hundred, a coach should devote the whole allotted time to merely eight or twelve students? Miss Moran believes such a method is not right. So her aim is to give to the greatest number possible forensic aspiration and to give to that number the most opportunities possible for practice. She has but one requirement and that is willingness to work hard enough to show sincere preparation for the special contest activity and at the same time to maintain a high average in regular class work.

By means of elimination contests Joplin High School was represented in the Missouri N. F. L. tournament held on the campus of William Jewell College, Liberty, Missouri, March 5, 6, and 7, by Bernice Payne and Ellamae Smith in oratory; by Ann Moskovitz and Irene Berliner in both humorous and dramatic declamation; by Bob Burke and Betty Ann Greenwell in extemporaneous speaking; by Bob Robertson and Martha DeVillers in oratorical declamation; and by the State debate team—Benton Whitaker, Robert Hansen, Dan Smith, and Frank Jenkins in debate.

In the tournament as a whole Joplin and Carrollton tied for first, each scoring forty-five credit points.

The national tournament for the Forensic League contestants who won in state tournaments will be held this year, May 4-8, in Oklahoma City. Those who will represent Joplin are as follows: Ann Moskovitz in humorous and dramatic declamation; Irene Berliner in dramatic declamation; and Eleanor Kincaid in oratorical declamation.

Special pride Joplin High School has in Eleanor Kincaid for her having won first place in oratory in the National tournament held in Kent, Ohio, last spring. This spring she has won in two original oratorical contests conducted under the auspices of the American Legion—one held at Jopin, and one, at Neosho, Missouri.

Various contests are held throughout the vicinity during the course of a year. Joplin can attend only part of them; but when she does, it is exceptional if she does not place.

Bob Evans, and N. F. L. member, won first place in extemporaneous speaking in the annual speech contest held at Drury College, Springfield, Missouri. Max Potter, another member, won first place in the essay contest.

Since the Joplin Chapter of the National Forensic League was organized in February, 1933, its number of members and degrees has surpassed that of every N. F. L. chapter in the nation—many chapters have been organized for eight or more years—except six.

In the State tournaments the Joplin Chapter has attended, she won first place once, second place once, and tied for first in the 1936 tournament.

No one is eligible for membership in the National Forensic League unless he has earned at least fifteen credit points through interscholastic contests. He must also hold an average ranking in his regular school work. Students are provided a constant incentive in that the League continues to confer advanced degrees upon members for special attainment.

Meetings of the N. F. L. Chapter are held in the various homes. Programs are there given, and parents are always welcomed.

DEBATERS TRIUMPH AGAIN

The state debate team was selected after a tryout in which there were fifty-two original entries. The boys debate in teams of two, debating both sides of the question. The team has given creditable performances in the Pittsburg, Coffeyville, and Topeka tournaments, and went to the quarter-finals in the William Jewell tournament. In the state debate tournament, Joplin was victorious in the district contests at Joplin and Springfield, surpassing twenty other state teams to gain the Southwest Missouri championship.

DEBATE TOURNAMENTS

At the opening of the new year in forensics Joplin received invitations to attend debate tournaments being held not only in places where she attended last year but also in other colleges. Many could not be accepted. But, in general, the invitations accepted permitted as many entries as the school wished to send. In that respect Joplin was fortunate for many teams were rather well prepared and eager to debate.

The first tournament attended was held at Pittsburg, Kansas. There our school entered twelve teams composed of four each. Of the fifty-two debates we participated in, we won twenty-eight.

Then came the time, December 12 and 13, for the Coffeyville tournament. Thirty-six students took part there, eight of whom were in the quarter-final round, two in the semi-final, but none, in the final.

That tournament was followed by one which was held in Topeka, Kansas, High School. There we entered three teams: (1) the State team, composed of Benton Whitaker, Robert Hansen, Dan Smith and Frank Jenkins; (2) the alternate team, composed of Rex Jeans, Anita Raymond, Eddie Falk, and Bob Burke; and (3) Jean Miles, Wendell Garrison, Harry Evans, and Billy Havens. There every team debated seven times. Our state team won six debates; the alternate, six; and the third team, three. Chanute won that tournament.

On January 12, 1936, the first tournament of our group in the State Debating League was held. Nevada, Carthage, Webb City and Joplin participated. Dr. Reid of the speech department of the University of Missouri was the judge. Joplin was victorious. The next State League tournament was held in Springfield Teachers' College, where eight schools were entered: Aurora, Crane, Cassville, Everton, Lebanon, Hermitage, Humansville, and Joplin. Again Joplin won, thus receiving the trophy for the Southwest Championship. This next tournament will be held in Columbia, Missouri.

On March 12 a team of two, Jean Miles and Anita Raymond, entered the William Woods College tournament. Among the teams entered there, were Topeka, Kansas, Jacksonville, Illinois, and all district winners of Missouri. The Joplin team was in the semi-final debate, at that time losing to Carrollton, Missouri.

A tournament somewhat different from the others was that to which only sophomore teams from our school were invited. Two sophomore teams were entered. They placed third, thereby receiving a small loving cup.

It may seem the winnings are at a minimum, but the value received by the many who have had the advantage of meeting in debate, teams from other cities and states, and of making social contacts with some of the finest students of many schools, can not be estimated. No one can lose in debating; for even though he lost a decision, he gained in speaking ability and in the desire to work harder that he might win the decision in his debates yet to be.

SPRING DEBATE TOURNAMENT

The annual intramural debate tournament, as usual, proved very successful, in that a large percentage of our students in some capacity participated in the activity.

Those who actually debated in the preliminary rounds were eighty-four in number. But other students had active parts. For each debate there were a chairman, a timekeeper, and a page. In a few cases there were also student judges, all of the State team and alternate team serving in every round as they were not privileged to debate in the spring tournament. For every debate there were three judges.

At the close of the third round, the high affirmative and high negative teams of each bracket became eligible for the fourth round.

Beginning with the fourth round, each defeat was an elimination. The seventh round became the final. Those who debated in that round were as follows: Richard McWilliams and Joe Brookshire, affirmative; and Marian Barnhart and Dee Wilson, negative. The affirmative won the decision.

Rankings as given by judges throughout the tournament had been carefully kept. Those who finished with the best rankings were Joe Brookshire first and Dee Wilson second. Each received five dollars as an award.

The boys who won the tournament are members of the Herculean Literary Society. For the third time that society has won the Fleischaker loving cup. It was originally planned that whichever society won the cup three times should be presented with the trophy as a permanent possession. So the cup now belongs to the Herculeans. We have, however, the Elsner loving cup with which to begin next year.

The annual spring debate tournament carries with it much interest, enthusiasm, and individual study on the parts of the students. Cooperation on the part of principal, parents, and faculty members each year make the activity a success.

OTHER SPEECH CONTESTS

The contests held in declamation and extemporaneous speaking throughout our district have not been so many as those held in debate. They have been important, however, and the quality of work done therein has been excellent.

An intramural contest was held in our own school on Saturday, January 11, at which time in humorous declamation, Irene Berliner placed first and Ann Moskovitz second. In the dramatic declamation again Irene Berliner placed first and Ann Moskovitz, second.

Later elimination contests were held in our school for other phases of forensic contests. In the extemporaneous speaking, Bob Burke and Betty Ann Greenwell won first and second places respectively. In oratorical declamation Bob Robertson and Martha DeVillers won first and second places respectively.

Those winners then entered the State N. F. L. tournament, which was held March 5, 6, and 7, at William Jewell College, Liberty, Missouri. At this contest, Ann Moskovitz won first place in humorous declamation and second in dramatic. Others who placed in the meet were Ellamae Smith and Irene Berliner.

Another tournament of importance that brought more honors to Joplin was the annual Drury College Speech Tournament held in Springfield, December fifth: Max Potter won first in the original essay; Erma Jean Scott, second in short story; Ann Moskovitz, first in poetry reading; and Bob Evans, first in extemporaneous speaking.

The fine spirit of our participants in all forensic contests, the great benefit derived from preparation and competition, and the many honors won for service well rendered give many Joplin students forensic aspiration and help patrons to believe the contests are much worth while.

THE JOPLIMO

In preparing the 1936 Joplimo the staff, as in the past, has tried to show the year's activities and achievements in word and picture. We have endeavored to create a book that will recall many pleasant memories for both seniors and underclassmen.

Without the cooperation which we received from the faculty and students it would have been an impossibility for the staff to prepare this book. We wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation .

As are most progressive annual publishers, the Joplimo is a member of state and national scholastic press associations.

THE SPYGLASS

The Spyglass is a bi-weekly publication which records all of the school activities. It has been well-supported by the students since it was first published, and this year it has been especially well received. The Spyglass is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association, the Missouri Scholastic Press Association, and the Quill and Scroll. Each year the staff sends a delegation to both the national and state conventions of high school journalists.

RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

Another school year has come and gone. For some, it means the end of class-room instruction and the starting of the greater school, experience; it marks the beginning of a career during which will be applied the doctrines and principles that were taught throughout the past years. For others, it marks but another mile-stone on the road of education, along which they will continue to add to the foundation of the structure which houses their character and their soul.

For all these young men, be they now graduates or underclassmen, the R. O. T. C. has earnestly endeavored to awaken in their hearts and minds an appreciation of their responsibility of citizenship, and to inculcate in them habits of alertness, courtesy, respect for law and order, precision, self-discipline, resourcefulness, initiative, and leadership, to the end that they will be better fitted to meet the problems of their everyday life, and, consequently, be a credit to their community, state, and nation.

THE COMBINED STAFFS

With flags flying, drums beating, and trumpets blaring, the corps swings smartly down the street. What a stirring picture the two battalions of the regiment maks! No wonder the teachers have difficulty in dragging the girls from the north windows when the unit is on parade.

Major Block has three staffs aiding him this year: The regimental staff with Lieutenant Colonel Robert Evans in command; the first battalion staff, made up of A and B Companies, with Major Deloy McMullen in command; the second battalion staff, comprising C and D Companies, commanded by Major Arch Watson. The regimental staff consists of four members, while the staffs of the First and Second Battalions consist of four members each. Miss Harriet Ochsenbein who is the Honorary Lieutenant Colonel and Major Adjutant M. G. Herron are members of the regimental staff.

THE DIAMOND AND DISC

"There's something about a soldier," you know and particularly about an officer! Is it the shining Sam Brown belt, the gleaming diamonds and discs flashing on broad manly shoulders, or the dazzle of the polished saber that makes the girlies' hearts to pit-a-pat? There's something tho'—an indescribable fascination. But—here's the catch—no girls allowed. What a pity!

Major Block, who came to Joplin last fall, is the new sponsor of the Diamond and Disc and has already endeared himself, not only to the R. O. T. C. boys, but also to every student who has come into contact with him. He and Mrs. Block have instituted something new in J. H. S.—a girls' rifle team. And they talk about disarmament!

HIGH RANKING OFFICERS AND INSTRUCTORS

Reading from left to right, those appearing in the picture are: Second Row—Major McMullen, Major Watson. First Row—Sgt. Collier, Lt. Col. Evans, Hon. Lt. Col. Ochsenbein, Major Block.

The commissioned officers of the unit are appointed according to their grades. The lieutenant-colonel for this year was Robert Evans. This year the corps was divided into two battalions, consequently we had two majors, Deloy McMullen and Arch Watson. Watson was awarded a regular army officer's saber for being the best-drilled cadet last year. It is an annual custom of the cadets to select a senior girl to be honorary lieutenant colonel. This year Harriet Ochsenbein was chosen for the honor. Sergeant Collier is the drill instructor for the unit, and Major Block concentrates on Military Science and Tactics.

BAND OFFICERS

The band officers are selected on the same basis as the other officers of the corps. Some of these officers hold rankings which are among the highest of the corps. The two highest band officers are the Major and Commander, who are chosen by Mr. Coulter. This year Tom Wallace was selected as major and Robert Hansen as commander.

RIFLE TEAM

The members of the rifle team are chosen on the basis of high-firing scores. The team is coached by Sergeant Collier. The Seventh Corps Area Match which is one of its activities was fired here. From those who entered, Jones, DeGraff, Steven, Butcher, and Warden were selected to go to the invitation match which was held at the Kemper Military Academy in Boonville, Missouri. From the same match Craig, the team captain, McMullen, Stevens, Jones and Warden were chosen to go to the Hearst National Match. Elwood Stevens won the Diamond and Disc trophy by having the highest score. Charles DeGraff received a certificate for most improved rifleman.

ENSEMBLES

The ability to cooperate with others, social experience and good fellowship, the urge to develop one's talents, an opportunity for such development . . . to help their members attain these benefits, our clubs exist.

GLEE CLUBS

The boys' and girls' glee clubs are organizations which have consistently won high honors for Joplin High School and are in frequent demand for various district programs. As the Joplimo goes to press they are preparing for the contests at Pittsburg and Columbia. Luck to them, say we!

1. Three honor students. 2. Student Council representatives. 3. These Student Council representatives seem rather frivolous. 4. Don Sturdy seems to be the only serious Student Council member here. 5. "Ho, hum," says Witcosky of the N. F. L. 6. Tommy Wallace is collecting for the Honor Society. 7. These are budding orators, N. F. L., you know. 8. Sterling representatives of the Student Council. 9. These are smart National Honor Society people. 10. The Student Council lays its plans. 11. More Honor Society. 12. Aren't these N. F. L. people the cutest things. 13. This is the more serious element of the Forensic League. 14. Big shots in the debate tournament. 15. Yes, that's right, all Forensic Leaguers.

Joplin High School preaches the necessity of training students for intelligent citizenship, and it practices what it preaches, not only in its classes, but by providing a Student Council which is organized along the lines of a congress with representatives from the various districts (home rooms). The Student Council each year undertakes some worthwhile project for school or civic betterment. This year it was an electric score board for the stadium.

The Council also represents the student body officially in making requests of, or suggestions to, the administration. The members of this organization are a select group, each one being president of his home room.

You people who haven't been to any of the debate tournaments don't know what fun you've missed! If you did know, you couldn't sit around and look at peace with the world; instead you'd feel like giving yourself a good kick. The purpose of this organization is to promote interest in all the forensic activities and to develop extempore speaking, original oratory, humorous and dramatic declamation, and debating. The battle cry of Forensic League members is "On to the National Speech Tournament." This year the tournament was held in Oklahoma City. More fun!

The day for the announcement of the National Honor Society is looked forward to with great anxiety by the seniors. Groups are formed around the bulletin boards where the list of members is posted and the students eagerly search for their names. Election to this society is considered the crowning honor a senior may attain; and, each year after the selection of new members has been made, the sophomores and juniors work harder and more industriously than they have at any other time during the school year. The purpose of the organization is to award recognition to the students who have contributed to the school life by excelling in leadership, scholarship, character, and service. The National Honor Society is to the high school student what Phi Beta Kappa is to the college student.

1. We wonder what Al Clearman (with the aid of those other G. Q.'s) is kicking up his heels about. 2. Hold me! Those G. Q. "girlies" are just too, too divine! 3. The Dionne Quins haven't got anything on this Herc Sextet. 4. This G. Q. mixup seems to be all over Deloy McMullen's head. 5. Just before the Athenaeum six-day "bike" race with everyone on his toes from excitement. Steady there, boys. 6. New style extra-space car—demonstrated by the Athenaeums. 7. Floradora Girls—ummm that blonde! 8. Mrs. Clark and some of her Herculeans. Doesn't Hansen look coy? 9. Bill Lough is having some difficulty getting those three G. Q.'s out of his hair. 10. Athenaeum Ray Hutchison is sitting high—but not on a hilltop. 11. Herc's Three Musketeers. 12. The Hercs flocking around their beauty queen—or should I say King Russell Holden. Isn't that a charming look he's got for his public? 13. Look's like a flat—maybe for the Athenaeums. 14. That stalward Herc—Charlie Warden supporting two of his fellow-members while two others look on. 15. The G. Q.'s pride and joy—Linn Stair. 16. Athenaeums stuck in snowdrifts. Be careful! There's a snowball coming right at you.

Every society has its forte, and it doesn't take a great deal of exhausting mental effort to see that the Hercs specialize in forensic activities. In plain English, they have a gift of gab.

They have delved deep into all that about "Resolved; etc., etc. . . " It always makes us feel as if someone had heaved a piano at us and knocked us for the count, but it doesn't feaze these young Henry Clays. Some of them will undoubtedly knock the Senate for a row of Washington cherry blossoms, with their steam-heated, fire-spitting, tear-jerking, blood-pressure-raising, fervid speeches.

We're not emotional either; they're just good talkers.

Minstrels, amateur hours, country school programs—for all these things the G. Q.'s are famous! They do other things too—those merry, happy boys, but they're particularly famed for the programs they give in assembly.

You can't possibly lose the memory of "Major Blowe's Amateur Hour" with Ike Hawkins as the genial Major. And you can't forget Bill Lough doubling in a pinch for Kate Smith. You'll surely remember, too, Neale Pinet and John Stephens as the daring young men in the roller skate act.

And so we say, "Long life to these boys who can make us laugh and forget that we have trig tests and chemistry exams."

Some time ago, the rustic residents of a certain Ozark region were somewhat disturbed to see a truck load of young America arrive amid a deluge of ear-splitting, lung-bursting, record-breaking shouts. The yokels' jaws gaped even wider when the boys began to clamber over the hills and dales, with no apparent purpose, other than, perhaps, to see who could get the most "chiggers." To finish things up, someone fell in the river, it rained while they were on the way home, and the motor suddenly decided to do a take-off on a Missouri mule. And that, boys and girls, is an example of an Athenaeum outing!

Everyone knows their chief activities are in the realm of intramural sports, so we won't take up our space and your time by putting that in (or have we already done it?)

Beverly Setser

1. What do you suppose these Hi-Y boys are doing? Getting ready for relay race? 2. Cream of the L. C. F.'s. 3. Looks like L. C. F. Gordon Phillips has been swept off his feet by Tom Cummings and Martin Hudson. 4. L. C. F.'s just past the pledge stage. 5. More Hi-Y boys. 6. Hi-Y officers. 7. Dignified Hi-Y's?? 8. What's the matter with these Hi-Y boys? 9. Another group of L. C. F.'s—and they say we've got plenty more. 10. L. C. F. officers. 11. Part of the Forum. 12. These Forum boys had a big spill. 13. And here we have the biggest part of the Forum. 14. Some more Forum's—Bernard Hinkle looks a bit stand-offish, doesn't he? 15. The long and short of the Forum.

The Forum, as its name implies, is not confined to the study of any particular field, but allows for great variety in its programs. For instance, one of the most memorable presentations of this year was a dramatic interpretation of Lizah crossing the ice, hounds baying, Simon Legree cursing and all. Then there have been excellent impersonations of famous people, and, of course, many other programs of biographical, scientific, or political nature.

The club annually eliminates the weaker members at its stag mixer where all partake of half done wieners and cider. If they live, they're deemed hardy enough for the year's activities. All came through this year; so, you see, they can take it.

The Hi-Y's, after their recent reorganization, are coming along just fine, thank you, and why shouldn't they with such an illustrious president as "Little Frankie," "pride of the school," "that man with the camera," etc.

Their theme this year was "Our Foreign Relations." No, you Vague Mentalities, that doesn't mean Aunt Minnie in Australia, or Uncle Gus in Germany, but weighty matters like the promotion of world peace, goodwill among nations, and such. And indeed, this universal peace business seems to be quite a problem, even for our Hi-Y's. They haven't solved it yet,—but they expect to.

The L. C. F.'s are charged with a serious duty, that of making Les Cinquante Freres, (The Fifty Brothers), more than ever a real asset to the school, and of keeping the high ideals of her who was their counselor ever before their eyes.

They feel themselves, dedicated to the memory of their late sponsor, Miss Barlow, beloved and respected by every one of them, with that sincerity derived from friendship.

They want to be all she could have wished them to be, always striving for the best results in their school work, eagerly taking part in all worth-while activities, living their lives usefully, helpfully, and intelligently.

1. Four little "Saps." 2. Happy Atalantians. 3. Cold? 4. What's so funny? 5. Sapphonian president, the biggest "Sap" of all. 6. Sapphonians in a huddle. 7. Seven up!—Seven Philo Phronians. 8. Watch the birdie! 9. Philosophical Philo Phronians. 10. Miss Krieckhaus and two prominent Philo Phronians. 11. A carful! 12. Atalantians concentrate—in typical high school style. 13. Miss Haswell and some of her girls. 14. Some "Saps" around a post. 15. Four charming Sapphonian sisters. 16. Button, Philo Phronian pledge! 17. What a peppy bunch!

The football boys will assure you that the "Saps" aren't as sappy as their name may sound. They threw what is called in any language a "wow of a banquet" for the football squad. This year Miss Wynett Barnett, who has been the Sapphonian sponsor since 1924 and is known to many as "Aunt Winnie," was granted a leave of absence, and Miss Marian Martin was announced as their new sponsor. The Sapphonians were very active in all the major activities of the school and proved they were good workers by winning first and second prizes in the two football ticket campaigns. But then—these girls are always good!

Courage! Loyalty! Honesty! Cooperation These are indeed worthy ideals for the Atalantian girls to live up to. With the encouraging help of Miss Susan Haswell, the forty-seven members of this organization seem to be doing a plenty good job of attaining these ideals. The Atalantians are very active in extra-curricular activities; they play basketball, participate in debate and music, and well—about everything but football; At their St. Patrick's day banquet, they played "Pig in the Parlor." It may be just a coincidence, but how does that old Irish song go?

Every society seems to be noted for something and that something in the Philo Phronians is their basketball team. This year the team won second place in the Girls' Basketball Tournament. For the first time in several years the girls were allowed to play on regular scheduled basketball nights before the J. H. S. squad met their opponents. This group made the most of the opportunity. Now we ask you, why shouldn't the Philo Phronians be the best athletes in school when Miss Helen Krieckhaus is their sponsor? The Philo Phronians gave a buffet supper and dance at the T. P. A. cabin. The theme of the party was "On the Good Ship Lollypop." Place Cards were made in the form of anchors, and everything was decorated to resemble a ship. They also helped in preparing baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving. A few days before, they had a party at which every one donated some article for the baskets.

1. A bevy of Asphasians. 2. The Asphasians and beaux have a party. 3. Several prominent Philogians. 4. The G. R.'s about to leave for their conference. 5. Some of the Asphasians. 6. Half a dozen Philogians. 7. Notice the fondness of these Asphasians for each other. 8. And yet MORE Asphasians! 9. These Philogians are up-to-date—at least in their method of transportation. 10. These Philogians come already wrapped and packaged. 11. We really haven't decided yet as to what these Philogians are supposed to be doing. 12. Up and coming Sophomore Philogians. 13. Ahhhhh——the sweetness of girlish laughter. These gigglers are Philogians. 14. Such devotion as is seen in the ranks of the Philogians! 15. Some G. R.'s just before the bus pulled out for Bartlesville. 16. A double quartet of Asphasians prepare for a ride.

Believe it or not, there is a very special reason why some of the literary societies have very queer and Greekish-sounding names. The Asphasians are so called after Aspasia, who was the first woman to believe in equal education of men and women. Let mere man be careful when he enters these portals! Carying out the idea of their origin, the programs of the society were based on "Education of Women." They do, as well as teach, good deeds. This year the Asphasians adopted a whole family and sent them Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. Good work and worthy, Asphasians. Keep it up.

"Please Believe Me" when I tell you that the music really went 'round and 'round and came out at the Philogian banquet. The theme was "music" and it was carried out in the most unique manner possible. Several very interesting talks were given and the one made on Annapolis, by Clyda Bontier, caused a great deal of interest, or should I say speculation, as to whether the pin and ring she has really belongs to her brother or ??? The annual short story and poem contest was again sponsored by the society to encourage originality and ingenuity among its members.

The Girl Reserves is the only international society in the school. The Joplin Chapter was organized in 1918, and is, therefore, the oldest organization in the school. At the Girl Reserve Conference, which was held in Bartlesville, Oklahoma on February 28, 29, and March 1, the Joplin delegates were in charge of all the music for the various sessions. The conference discussions were held on the various goals and achievements of the Girl Reserves, including family life, etiquette, clothes, social service, vocations, industry and religion. Miss Georgia Wommack was elected treasurer of the Tri-State Conference of Girl Reserves for the coming year. The members feel that their local programs have been very much worth while, also.

1. Here we're giving you a part of the Olympiad's line. Watch your step boys. 2. Ummm——looks good! Three promising young Olympiads. 3. These Sigma Gamma Lambdas think life is just a big joke. 4. Some more Olympiads. 5. Castalians indulging in the high school girl's favorite pastime. 6. Three Sigma Gamma Lambdas. 7. Mrs. Chestnut completes a quartet of Sigma Gamma Lambdas. 8. We wonder what these Olympiads are hiding—'fess up girls. 9. Look's like the Castalians are going to take a trip. 10. We wonder if all these S. G. L.'s were in on the same joke—or maybe they're just happy. 11. Such a variety of moods expressed in this Castalian snap. One must have her childish fun, while the three sophisticates display their polish and Evalyn Martin is just too, too bored with it all. 12. Actress Smith displays her histrionic talent while the other Castalians look on. 13. "These Three"—Sigma Gamma Lambda. 14. Don't tell us these Castalians study even outside of school. 15. Another group of Olympiad beauties.

"Fifteen men on a dead man's chest Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum."

I imagine that almost every one knows that these two lines were taken from Stevenson's exciting tale, "Treasure Island." The scene of the annual Sigma Gamma Banquet was laid on this very island and even treasure chests were found there. A great deal of excitement was caused by the discovery of menues in these chests. The Sigma Gamma Lambda is an organization made up of junior and senior girls only. Hard on the sophomores? Well, no—it gives them something to look forward to!

The Castalian Literary Society incorporated in its semester schedule some enjoyable features that were quite different from those of the past years. The old adage "The early bird gets the worm" was changed by the Castalians to, "The early bird gets the most done." They held their annual banquet during the Christmas season, and therefore the remaining time permitted the planning of special program work. The Castalians held several covered-dish suppers and had many interesting programs, the most notable being a Major Bowes' Amateur Hour with Emma Belle DeVaney as the "Castalian Major Bowes." But this was only the beginning of all the good times had by the members of the Castalians.

Every year the Olympiads hold Olympiad Day and this year they celebrated by having a covered-dish supper. A picture was taken for the Sunday Globe, but no one seems to know where Miss Lucille Buck, the honorary sponsor, was. The Olympiad girls certainly believe in living up to their motto, "Achievement is glory enough," for some of their members have achieved the highest offices of the school. Among the members are the honorary lieutenant colonel, the secretary of the Student Council, drum major of the Girls' Drum Corps, editor-in-chief of the Spyglass, and associate editor of the Joplimo. If that isn't achievement in a big way, we've missed our guess.

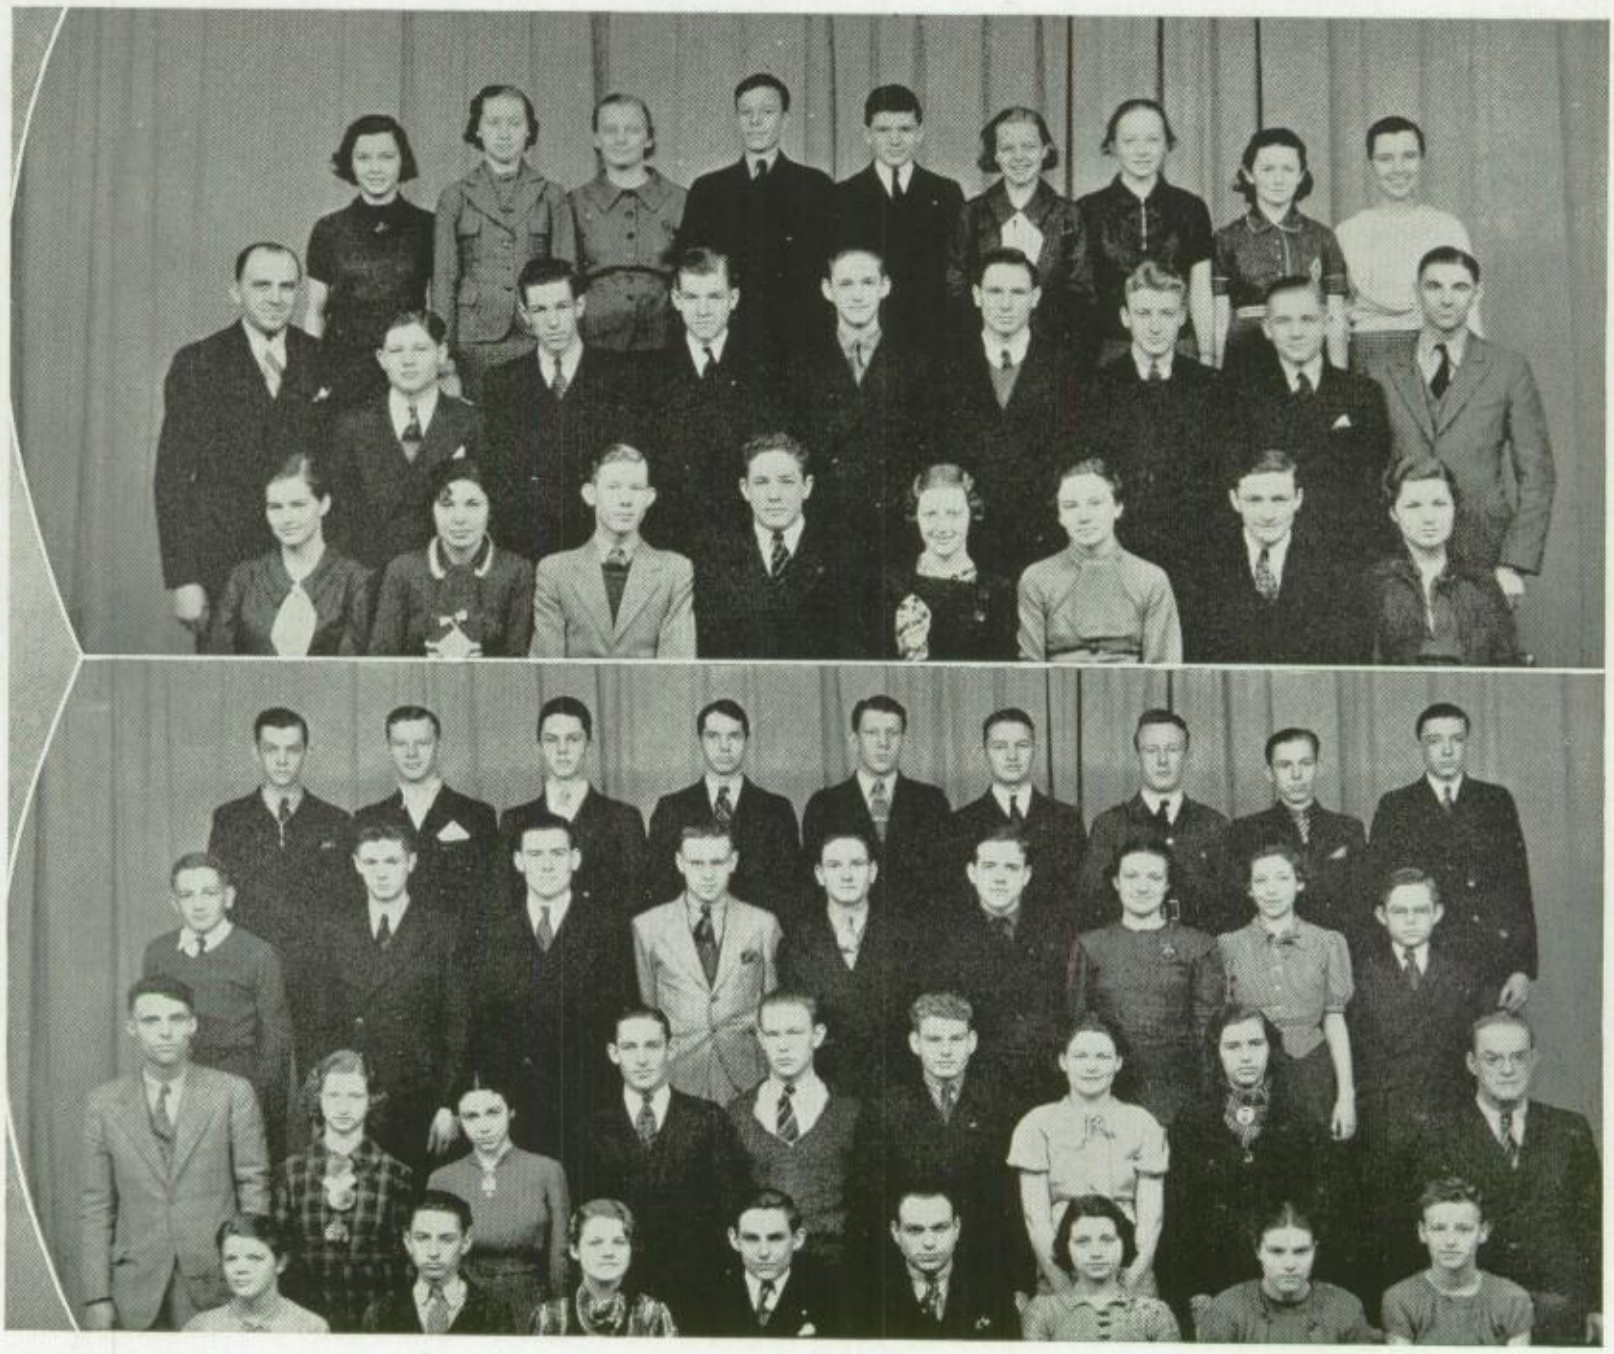
A. O. A.—Fourth Row— DeForest Young, Leonard Reed, Robert Sage, Ted Eberle, Bob Katner, Charles Sharp, Ray Taylor, Leo Damron, Victor Koch—Third Row—Wilbur Owen, Gordon Phillips, Bob Hall, Ward Clark, Paul Bell, Jerry Conor, Vivian Breeden, Emma Belle DeVaney, Jack Stringham—Second Row—Mr. Pry, Gertrude Lambert, Ann Moskovitz, Harold Weygandt, Bob Parkison, Nelson Rouse, Jean Campbell, Betty Dwyer, Mr. Buskett—First Row—Betty May Buskett, Norman Fanning, Mary Louise Redmon, Bill Stringham, Raymond Mosbaugh, Mary Katherine Sours, Margaret Wechselberger, Maxine Pickens.



THE ARGONAUTS

The Argonauts, having been organized only last year, are the most recent addition to Joplin High's literary societies. In their objective, which is to maintain high ideals and to acquire literary excellence, the Argonauts of Joplin High School differ from the Argonauts of old mythology. They suit their actions to the word, too. They have those good old-fashined spelling matches. We're going to slip in some day and spring "photochronography" on 'em. What's that? Oh, yes, we had to look it up, but everybody knows we can't spell. The programs usually include miscellaneous articles from magazines and newspapers.

1. Three faithful A. O. A.'s. 2. These Maskers played in "A New Deal for Mary." 3. Masker D. T. Knight still thinks he's Napoleon. 4. Cut-ups in science. 5. A. O. A.'s ready to exterminate a member. 6. Back to their marble days ? ? 7. Father Henley and his boys. 8. Happy Science Club members. 9. Maskers really don't belong in trees. 10. Down on J. H. S. 11. Evans and company in one of their "off" moments. 12. Ye A. O. A. big shots in a restful mood. 13. Famous A. O. A. hold. 14. Are you telling us these three are not all there?

"Button, pledge, button!" Of all the words in the dictionary these are the most despised by Masker pledges for they bring untold embarassment to him. You can imagine how you'd feel if you had to button while you were walking down the hall with your boy friend (or, I might add, your girl friend). Still, I doubt if there is a single boy or girl who wouldn't be too glad to exchange places with him. This organization produces two plays during the year for assembly programs, and the student body eagerly looks forward to these plays. This year they gave "A New Deal for Mary" the first semester, and for the last semester presented "Orchids for Marie."

The ancient Order of Alchemists is a name to live up to, and all new members are duly impressed with this fact by a most thrilling initiation. How much they are impressed is seen in their conscientious study of natural science.

If you still think "I'm from Missouri" is a snappy comeback, what a nifty time you'd have around the A. O. A.'s—at least until you found out they usually have some backing for all their queer statements. For instance, the one about how it took the fishes millions of years to find out about farming with carbon dioxide, and how deceitful an alcohol rub can be, and—oh, well, it was something like that!

OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE ARGONAUTS

The officers of this society are: President—Margaret Mallory, Vice-President—Marie Parker, Secretary—Wilma Fielding, Treasurer—Irene Sergent, Reporter—Illa June Degraffenreid, Program Chairman—Vertrice Martin. Other members are: Fern Walters, Martian Kee, Marie Parker, Wilma Fielding, Illa June Degraffenreid, Irene Sergent, Carol Younker, Mabel Jones, Dora Lenger, Mildred Reynolds, Margaret Greninger, Lorraine Cole, Eleanor Ashworth, Margaret Mallory, Vertrice Martin, Betty Soule, Bette Jones, Marie Baldwin.

ART CLUB

Remember way back when we used to have good old taffy pulls, with burned fingers and everything? Well, that was just the kind of a party that the Art Club had, but they went TWO better—they had ice cream and cakes too—the gluttons. The major project of the Art Club this year was the sponsoring of an exhibit consisting of all the art work of Joplin schools during the National Education Week. The organizations paid for the renting of a room downtown and did practically all the work. One of the most interesting things that the club did was to go on sketching-trips after school and on Saturdays. Clever these artists. Officers of the Art Club are: President—Jesselyn Lynn; Vice-President—John Denny; Secretary—Betty Wicks; Treasurer—Lucille Alper; Sergeant-at-Arms—Ardnell Townsend; Reporter—John Whipple; Social Chairman—Kathering Burwell; Parliamentarian—Helen DeGood; Program Chairman—Elwood Edwards. Members of the organization were: Lucille Alper, Ernest Beadle, Kathering Burwell, Juanita Cooper, Fern Davidson, Helen DeGood, John Denny, Elwood Edwards, Mildred Gordon, Norma Hettinger, Jesselyn Lynn, Marie Mason, Kathering Retherford, Eva Louise Searcy, Jo Leah Sanger, Forrest Swisher, John Whipple, Sarah Merle Whipple, Betty Wicks, Ila Jantz, Norman Wade, Ardnell Townsend, and Jewell Jones.

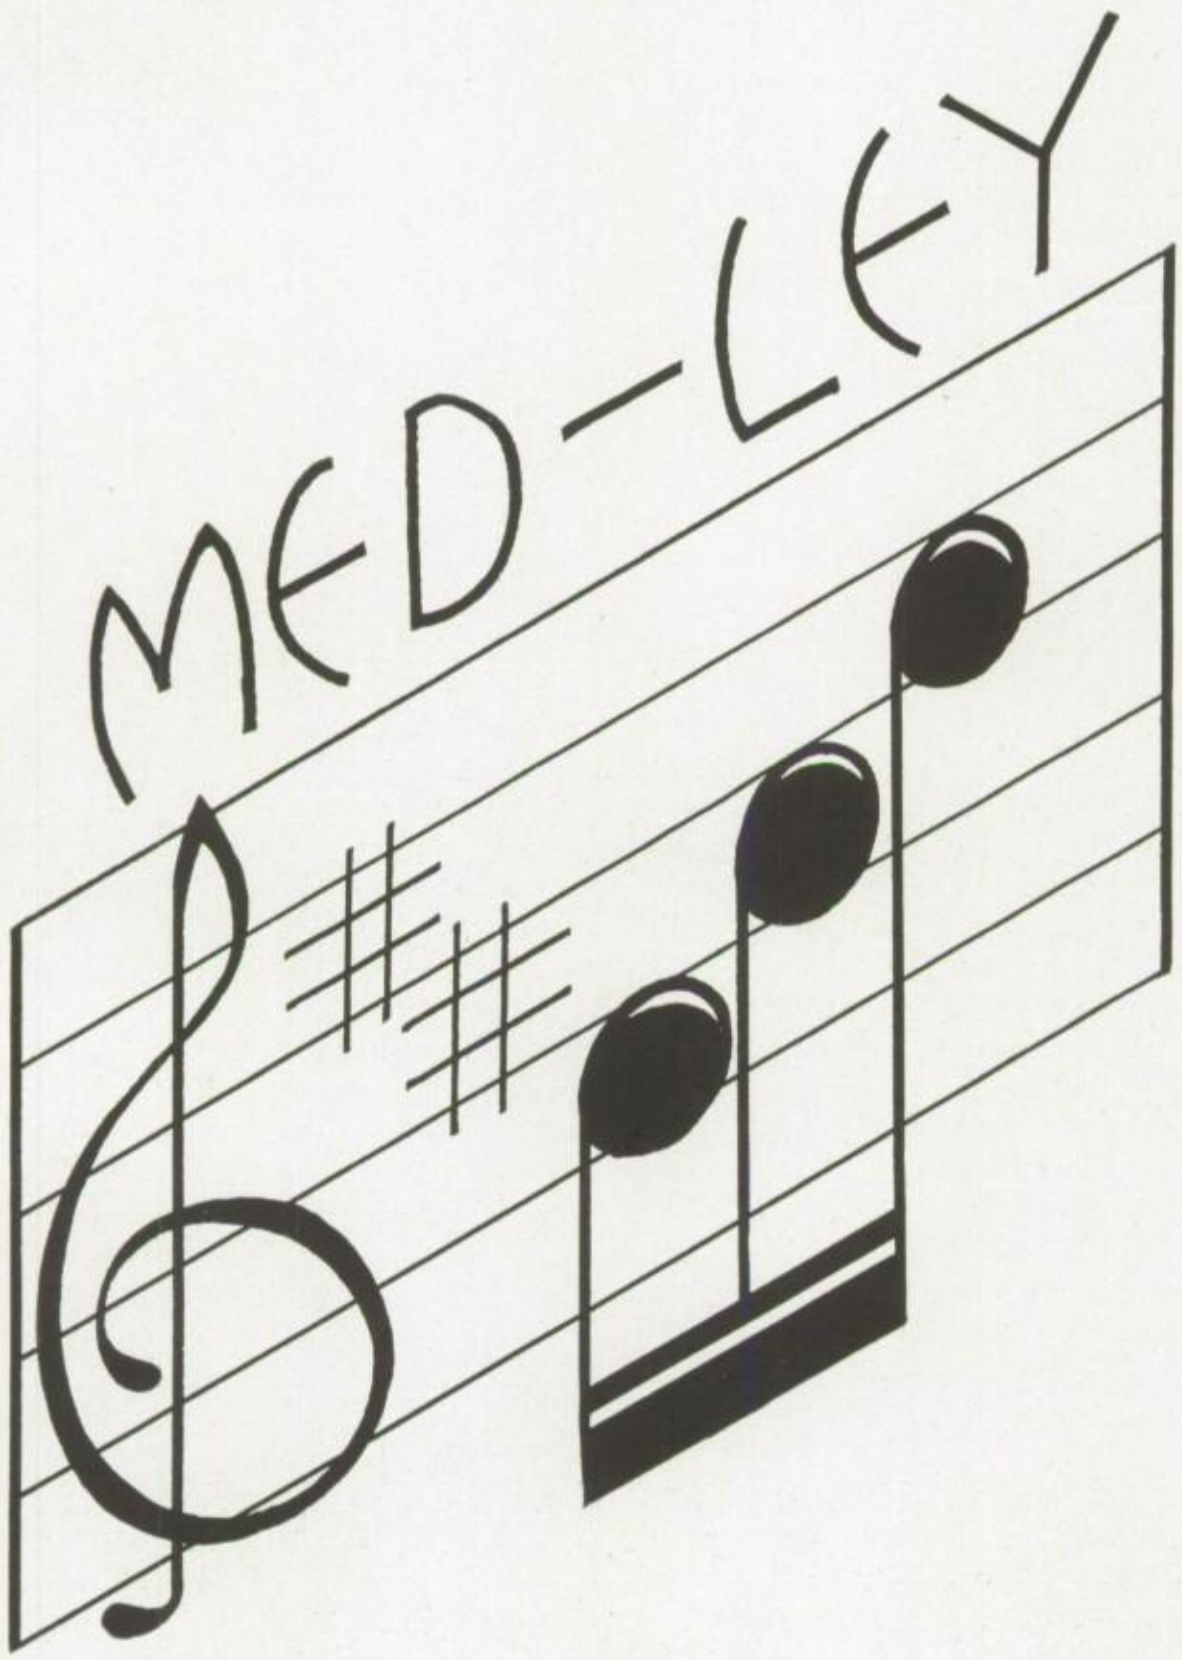
SPANISH CLUB

If you have seen, during the past year, some members of the Spanish Club poring over a book of Mother Goose, or Little Red Riding Hood, or Goldilocks—it wasn't necessarily a sign that they were approaching that stage of senility when one often reverts to the pleasures of infancy. It probably meant, instead, that they were to be on the program for one of the club's meetings in the near future. And to silence any smart cracks in connection with the mental maturity of people who bite their fingernails and chew their handkerchiefs and wilt their collars and get a bad case of terroritis accompanied by quaking knees and shivering teeth—all over the imminent danger of Little Red Riding Hood about to be irreparably masticated by the Big Bad Wolf—let us add that these plays were given in Spanish.

But the Spanish Club members didn't spend all their time camouflouging fairy tales until Mother Goose herself wouldn't recognize them. Infact, their chief project for the year was obtaining the flags of all Spanish-speaking countries.

The members of the Spanish Club are: Marvin Gilstrap, Raymond Fly, Orvill Horton, Harold Lloyd, Tom Fenix, William Thomas, Bob Hall, Charley Short, Betty Belle Ingram, Betty Dollar, LaVern Putnam, Grace Gilcrest, and Joe Vinot.

1. Art Clubbers, all happy but Katherine Retherford. 2. Two of these Art Club girls are in the money. 3. What? No senoritas. 4. Three Spaniards. 5. President Jesselyn Lynn and some Art Club members. 6. What your Spanish blood, Gene! 7. and 8. The Art Club tolerates few males. 9. You'd think Raymond Fly was a matador. 10. Miss Robinson and Art Clubbers. 11. Spanish Clubbers.



MED-LEY

SENIOR POPULARITY CONTEST

1. Archie Watson and Virginia Clutts are such good sports they let us snap at them. 2. The cutest couple relaxing after a round of activities. 3. Naturally the best students never look worried. 4. Senior doers most for J. H. S. 5. No wonder Lynn and Harriett are the most popular. 6. Friendly smiles from the two most friendly. 7. True to form Havens and Ann are acting up. 8. Mae DuBois and Laurence Martin certainly look studious. 9. This pair excels in good lines. 10. How Burke and Morgan can bluff. Whew! 11. Lee Marcum and Grace Wire are good athletes, aren't they? 12. Those handsome seniors, Bob Evans and Lorraine Cearnal—be still my heart.

JUNIOR POPULARITY WINNERS

1. These best sports, Virginia Fountain and Rex Boyd seem to have the laugh on the rest of us. 2. School doesn't bother Charlotte Coulter and Bob Chapman—the best students. 3. Jean Miles and Harold Shaffer are resting on the laurels they have won as the two juniors who have done the most for J. H. S. 4. Best looking juniors, Joe Brookshire and Eula McFadden try their wiles on their admiring public——Oooh——going, going——gone ! ! ! ! 5. Guess who are showing off—why, these best actors, Ellamae Smith and D. T. Knight, of course. 6. The best junior athletes, Chester Guinn and Wilma Jane Towers leave the gym long enough for our cameraman to get a shot, and do they look bored with all this nonsense! 7. We wonder where these most studious juniors, Charlotte Martin and Max Potter have left their books? 8. The biggest bluffers, Martha Belle Giltner and Harold Weygandt try to get their bluff in on our cameraman. 9. Wendell Garrison and Wilma Goodwin are authorities on lines; curved, straight and otherwise. 10. It's all hooey about there being nothing in a name. To prove it, the juniors elected Dorothy Friend and Gordon Phillips as the friendliest two in their class. 11. Excuse us—perhaps we have intruded. The two who are so wrapped up in each other are Chet Guinn and Bobbe Jane Belden—the cutest junior couple. 12. The most popular Bobbe Jane Belden and Rex Boyd, take a moment off from their whirl of activities to oblige our cameraman.

SOPHOMORE POPULARITY WINNERS

1. It's all bluff and nonsense when Dolores Jones and Frank Fogg are concerned. 2. Junior beauty contest winners—Howard Cozad and Billie Marie Grattis. 3. You won't get a cold shoulder from Jayne Haughawout and Dick Mills, the friendliest sophomores. 4. The most brilliant students of the sophomore class are Everett Reniker and Ruth Eisen. 5. Louise Olson and Bernard Hinkle are the most studious of the younger generation, but they still have a lot to learn. 6. Cutest couple now, but wait till they grow up—J. P. Waring and Betty Tyler. 7. Howard Cozad and Mary K. Forrester put on an act to display their histrionic ability. 8. These people, Jayne Haughawout and Everett Reniker have done the most for J. H. S., so we won't make any cracks. 9. Jane Jackson and Everett Reniker are the most popular—no more need be said. 10. They can take it, these best sports, Mary Evelyn Cragin and Dick Mills. 11. Howard Cozad and Virginia Morgan are out to find more poor fish who will bite at their lines.

ASSEMBLIES

1. G. Q. girlies. 2. The cheer leaders go sissy. 3. A bit of dainty feminity. 4. "Mrs. Lincoln" comes to town. 5. Those rough Ozark hills boys. 6. He really looks like Lincoln, doesn't he? 7. What! Again? 8. These boys broke into the news. 9. His dog is his "eyes;" they're both good sports. 10. Just before they shot this group of singers(?). 11. The "girls" go into their dance.

MILITARY

1. Captain Witcosky with Colonel Ochsenbein. 2. The Army throws a dance. 3. "Kunel" Evans holds Eleanor in place for a picture. Look at that grip! 4. You'd better say "Sir" to these gals. 5. The color guard. 6. The grand march at the military ball. 7. That's right boys. Come a little closer. We didn't see you very well the first time. 8. Anyway you turn, they've still got a bead on you. 9. Band officers.

SONG TITLES

1. "Lulu's back in Town." 2. "Boo, I'm the Boogy Man—" 3. "Old Faithful." 4. "School Days." 5. "Take Me Back to My Boots and Saddles." 6. "I'm Living in a Great Big Way." 7. "Rhythm Is Our Business." 8. "Goin' To Town." 9. "Twenty Four Hours a Day"—(They're Sophies, you know.) 10. "Tender Is the Knight"—Oh, yeah! 11. "When I Grow Up"—say, we wonder what that Sturdy boy will look like when he gets to be a great big man. 12. "Smoke Gets In My Eyes." 13. We "Feel Like Feathers In the Breeze."

CRUSHES

1. Jean Treat gives Russell Lewis the "works." 2. Tom Wallace takes Lorene Myers "in hand." 3. Virginia Morgan and little Donnie Sturdy. 4. Jack Burress and Margaret Ann Scott—just posing, of course. 5. Dorothy Lee Bloomer has Jimmy James on the brink. 6. J. P. Waring and Betty Jean Tyler—just sophomores, too. 7. Jack Nethery and Dorothy Evans do their magazine cover pose for us. 8. Gwyneth Waring and Bob Rogers, senior big shots. 9. Russell Holden and Barbara Cofer really do like each other.

1. Queen Ochsenbein, herself. 2. Spaniards Ellichman and True. 3. Maids of Honor Jackson and McFadden. 4, 5, and 7. When we throw a parade, we throw a parade. 6. They invested in the cake walk. 8. Bob Burke waltzes with royalty.

FRIENDS OF MINE...

1. We eat out at the Ninth Street Drug. 2. The New York Confectionery, better known as Clarence's. 3. Gardner makes a call at Bullard and Bell's. 4. Meekers, makers of fine handbags. 5. You've been out here. So have we. 6. Mr. Greenwell's chicken emporium. 7. A lot of us trade here, too. 8. John Molloy decides to save his money. 9. The Empire District Electric Company, good friends of ours.

MEMORANDUM FROM THE DESK OF
AUGUST C. JUNGE
SPORTSMANSHIP
Sportsmanship is the practical application of the Golden Rule.
What a wonderful training good Sportsmanship has been for the youth of today, and if carried on thru life, it will mean not only better citizenship, but a better nation and a better world.
Let us not lose sight of the fact that "In the Spiritual strength of its people—rests the future of a nation."
The youth of today has a big job ahead of him, a challenge.
Can he do it?

THIRTY MILLION NEW CITIZENS

In our schools today are thirty million future housewives and business men, growing, developing, learning in an environment and under living standards of a quality never before known to humanity.

One of the greatest factors contributing to present day standards of sanitation, safety, health, recreation, business and industrial development is ELECTRIC SERVICE.

Perhaps these thirty million new citizens do not fully appreciate the significance of electric service because it always has been a part of their daily lives. But their parents and grandparents know what it has done for mankind—many older than the electric light and power industry itself.

The parents and grandparents have seen the transition from the pre-electric age to the era of electrical living. They knew the coal oil lamp, the slow and wasteful methods of cooking, the inconvenient and often dangerous methods of storing foods, and all other inadequate and unpleasant facilities for executing their daily household tasks. Today they flood their homes with light at the snap of a switch; in growing numbers they are depending upon the electric range to cook their meals automatically; by millions they have turned to the electric refrigerator for safe and convenient food preservation; and in nearly every home where electricity is available, these parents and grandparents have long employed efficient household appliances to save time—save steps—save energy.

You, the graduating class of 1936, know these conveniences in your parents' homes. You will want them in your homes a few years hence. Nothing you can buy will bring you more in comfort and convenience—in saving of time and labor—and your electrical living will cost you as little as anything else you enjoy.

In delivering this message to the graduates of 1936, The Empire District Electric Company welcomes the opportunity to add its word of congratulation and sincerest wishes for success in the years ahead.

SEPTEMBER 3. "Hail, hail, the gang's all here!" The boys and girls tripp back to their places with sunshiny faces, smiling, eager——did I say smiling

About the first thing the upper classmen noticed, when they were ab to wipe the many stray sophomores from their sweltering brows and s through, was that we have three new faculty members, Miss Williams the English Dept., Major Block heading the Army, and Mr. Jones down the Trade School. We're glad to have you!

The Spyglass has started its annual keyhole peeping under the offici Winchelling of Eleanor Kincaid; and the Joplimo is doing very well, than you, in the hands of Editor-in-Chief, Eddie Falk.

The R. O. T. C. is back in its boots minus the saddles and agreeing ver thoroughly with Rudyard Kipling in this matter of slogging boots. Bu bear up boys—maybe some day you will cut as good a figure in yours Lieutenant-Colonel Bob Evans does in his.

Ye Dearre Olde Student Council has high hopes of giving us a reall good major project this year with President Linn Stair and Secretary Harri Ochsenbein doing a lot of high-powered plugging for it.

All of the literary societies have elected their officers for the semest and the brickbats and bouquets are flying thick and fast.

SEPTEMBER 17. The good old Red and Green Eagles started off the foo ball schedule with a smashing victory over Aurora. Yipeeeeee——or is tha the kind of a noise an eagle makes?

Well, the ball has started rolling; the pendulum has begun to swing, et —in other words, we're back in the harness again.

Time marches on, but so does our R. O. T. C.——so what?

OCTOBER 4. Again our pigskin pushers scored a hit by defeating Mone here in the Junge Stadium.

OCTOBER 11. These are coming almost too fast for us, but here we ar chalking up a third mark for the boys. This time it was on the Columbu gridiron.

OCTOBER 16-17-18. Three-day breathing spell—Teachers' Convention. B the way, you missed something if you didn't hear the verse speaking cho perform in the speech division of this convention. The Lew Starett selec tion they gave would make a real, honest-to-goodness "injun" turn palefac

OCTOBER 18. And while our teachers had their heads bent over the weight problems of administration, the Eagles swooped down on another helples victim—Lamar, and you know the results——VICTORY ! ! !

We elected Eleanor Kincaid as our representative to the Coal Quee Contest at Pittsburg. Evidently Old King Coal (some pun) didn't take good look at her, but we still think she's tops.

The Army got together and chose Harriet Ochsenbein for its Honorar Lieutenant Colonel. The one rose among the thorns, and how she does len grace to those Wednesday morning parades. Monty Jane James was runner up, a charming one, too.

Now we observe National Fire Prevention Week. Don't play wit matches, children.

OCTOBER 25. Dan Smith emerged victorious from the senior class presi dential election. He is also student-conductor of the band and orchestra You're doing right well, Dan. Congrats.

Another football game and with the results we have grown to expect Down "thar" in Oklahoma where the Indians run lose, we held our own against Miami.

Oh yes, we must say that the other musical organizations have splendi leaders, too. Elsie Elliott and Junior Wilson are weilding the batons in th girls' and boys' drum corps, respectively; while Tom Wallace has been selecte by "Chief" to keep the band boys on the right key. And so the music goe 'round and 'round in JHS and comes out in the practice periods of our variou musical units.

Back to this subject of class elections. The sophomores decided tha Everett Reniker could take their burdens on his shoulders for the first yea in high school. The Juniors, after a series of brawled meetings—I mean called meetings—finally chose Rex Boyd for a second time as president of thei class.

This blustery month of October draws to a close and drab November i ushered in. We almost got poetical, but none of that until spring.

NOVEMBER 1. "Bong"——Just another Ambitious Amateur's dreams shat tered, but not our Ann Moskovitz's. Yes, Ann carried off another prize and the first prize at that, in the North Junior High School P. T. A. Contest, her in our auditorium. Not such a bad beginning for the month, eh?

This month we observe National Education Week by studying the dif ferent phases of education and by studying our regular lessons, too, which was nothing unusually different—or perhaps it was.

CALENDAR

The Sapphonians won the ticket sale for the Armistice Day game. Nice going, girls. Was the buggy ride in the parade fun? And that was some parade before the game Armistice Day. With the army, the band, the drum corps, and everything.

This game marked another triumph of the Eagles, this time over Carthage, one of our strongest opponents. These victories are coming in pretty regularly. Three cheers for Coach Collins and the team ! ! !

NOVEMBER 15. Before we had time to recover from the game, the debaters had gone to Pittsburg and had come back. That was some trip!

NOVEMBER 28. Then we finished out the month with three more football games. All defeats for the opponents of the Red and Green, except the game on the 28th against Fayetteville, which was the first defeat of the season. Some record ! ! !

DECEMBER 5. Junior Class play presented. The baby in the third act made a "howling" success.

The Spring Debate tournament and its high-powered propositioning is now in full swing.

Twelve cadets were promoted. How're you doin' boys?

Joplin debaters to Topeka. "Oh me, debating again."

IN MEMORIAM. Betty Hansford.

Joplin contestants win prizes at Drury College—per usual.

DECEMBER 17. Aptitude tests for Seniors. These seniors are "wise guys." How do we know? We had a ringside seat at those aptitude tests.

Girls' Rifle Team organized. A bunch of hot shots, Whee ! !

Moreover, consequently, likewise, and nevertheless the Hercs have started the banquets off with a bang-bang. (Dec. 20).

JANUARY 11. Reading contest: Berliner, 1st place; Moskovitz, Reid, 2nd place. Well, well, well, it looks as if the sophomores are coming up in the world.

R. O. T. C. batalion divided into two regiments. What's the matter, boys, get tired of each other's company?

Sapphonian's buffet supper for Miss Barnett.

Speaking of tall stories, Don Sturdy was elected basketball captain for the rest of the season.

JANUARY 10, 11. Debaters to Fort Scott. In spite of the fact that our debaters like to flirt, I have been told that they escaped Fort Scott's clutches with few scratches.

FEBRUARY 15. Basketball Week. We had our hardest fought basketball game with Springfield.

FEBRUARY 21. Debaters to Springfield—1st place—again.

FEBRUARY 22. Military Ball. "Waltz me around again, Bobby." Oh yes, and as another small item, 200 other R. O. T. C. boys were there also.

FEBRUARY 7. Amateur contest, band concert, and minstrel show. But Mammy did allow some music playing around here.

IN MEMORIAM: Miss Barlow.

The Girl Reserves have just returned from their annual conflab at Bartlesville. As if they didn't get enough gabbing done at home.

MARCH 12. Basket Ball Team to State contest at Columbia where Sturdy was elected captain of All-State team.

MARCH 13. Rifle Teams to Kemper. Maybe we have the wrong idea of a prize at a "shooting." We didn't see any loving cups, but the girls and boys tell us they did all right.

MARCH 18. We're proud of the winners in the preliminary music contests. Good luck to you in future contests.

MARCH 23. Honor Society announced. Kincaid, valedictorian; Martin, salutatorian. The eighth and ninth wonders of the world.

MARCH 28. Keenerino—Queen Contest. It was a tough race, but the best horse always wins.

SPRING CONCERT—Every year the music department presents a spring concert. Every year it gets just "that" much better, may the good luck continue.

APRIL 22, 23, 24. Music Contest at Pittsburg. Play Frank, Play!

APRIL 30. Senior Class Play is "Big Hearted Herbert." And they tell me the hero is so generous.

MAY 1, 2, 3. Music Contest at Columbia. Joplin shines again.

MAY 8. Class Day. "Shine, sun, shine."

MAY 10. Baccalaureate. "Our" pet grievance.

MAY 12. Commencement. "Farewell to the seniors."

CONGRATULATIONS!

The Globe and News Herald congratulate the graduating class of Joplin High School. Your diploma is a certificate of a job well done.

We hope you will make your homes in the Joplin district and are confident that you will contribute to its growth and development. You will find it necessary to look long and far for a place where so many of the essentials of a happy life are to be found.

It has been the privilege of The Globe and News Herald to record the incidents of your High School Days. It is the hope of these newspapers that they may be privileged to chronicle the history of many great and successful careers from among your class.
